Dag Arrives In Cairo On Peace Mission

No-Shooting Pledges Seen As Objective

Israeli Agreement
Likely But Nasser
Expected To Balk

CAIRO, March 21 (Thursday) (P)—Dag Hammarskjöld, who arrived in Cairo today on a new peace mission, probably will try to persuade both Egypt and Israel to proclaim nonbelligerency.

The U.N. secretary general, who left New York Tuesday, took a plane in Brussels for return to the Middle East, where he negotiated a temporary stoppage in border bloodshed last April.

Proclamations of nonbelligerency could end a state of war sustained since the Arab-Israeli Palestine warfare of 1948 and vastly simplify dickering in the months to come over Suez, Gaza and Aqaba Gulf issues that were magnified by the Sinai shooting last fall.

Nasser Expected To Balk

Israel probably would agree readily. Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion has repeatedly proclaimed his readiness to talk peace with all his Arab foes, though warning that Israel would not stand for renewed Egyptian assaults from the Gaza Strip or interference with Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba.

Egypt's President Nasser will not agree — at least not without a long-drawn argument. The state of war is the basis for the Arab boycott of Israel and any Egyptian bar to Israeli shipping through the Suez Canal and Aqaba Gulf.

Hammarskjöld's first appointment will be with Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi. He will meet Nasser in the evening. Britain Cautious To Egypt Plan

Fresh developments bearing on the crisis included:

1. The British Foreign Office termed Egypt's six-point memorandum on ground rules for the reopened Suez Canal disquieting in that it made no reference to six principles adopted by the U.N. last October as the basis for negotiations on the canal operations.

2. The United States reserved judgment, but said it expects "a satisfactory interim arrangement will be arrived at" during Hammarskjöld's talks with top Egyptians.

3. Eight major oil companies, concerned over the crisis created by the canal's closing, set up committees in London to study routes, financing and equipment for new pipelines to link the Middle East's oilfields and tanker parts.

Train Delayed Hour By Mouse

WASHINGTON, March 20 (P)—A Pennsylvania freight with 56 loaded cars was held up for an hour today by a mouse.

Rolling along easily on its way to Jersey City, the freight ground to a halt four miles or so north of the city. A track switch would not work.

A maintenance man broke the switch down. Inside was a small field mouse. The rodent—a very dead one—was removed, and the railroad was in the hauling business again.

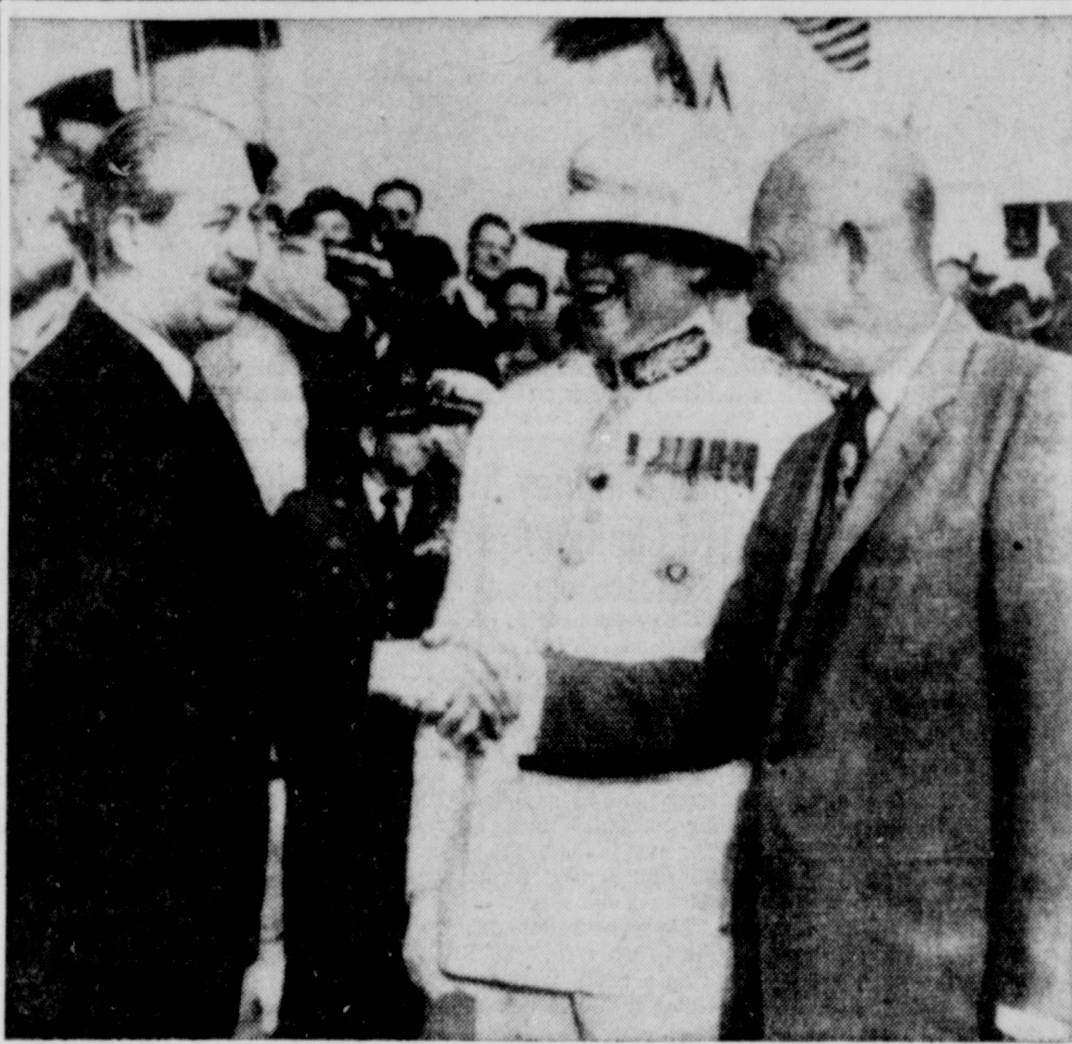

House Urges Spain's Admission To NATO

WASHINGTON, March 20 (P)—The House passed and sent to the Senate today a resolution urging admission of Spain to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The administration-backed resolution needs Senate passage to become final, but does not require President Eisenhower's signature or have the force of law. It expresses "the sense of Congress" that Spain be admitted to NATO.

Warm Handshake In Bermuda

Smiling British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan (left) shakes hands with President Eisenhower as Ike comes ashore from the cruiser Canberra at Alibouys Point in Hamilton, Bermuda. Between them, smiling broadly, is white-helmeted, white-uniformed Lt. Gen. John Woodall, colonial governor of Bermuda. Britain Would Let NATO Settle Cyprus Dispute

LONDON, March 20 (P)—Britain agreed today to let NATO try to mediate British-Greek-Turkish differences over Cyprus. All three nations involved are NATO members.

Greek Cypriots quickly objected.

In Athens, Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis rejected the proposal because, he said, negotiations must be between Britain and the Cypriot islanders themselves under a U.N. resolution.

The British plan would not settle the political future of Britain's eastern Mediterranean island bastion but is aimed to end deadly violence and strife.

Archbishop Could Return

The Greek-speaking island majority people want independence from Britain and union with Greece; the Turk-speaking minority people want the British to continue ruling the crown colony.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd told the House of Commons British has agreed to let Cyprus Archbishop Makarios leave his exile in the Indian Ocean Seychelles Islands if he will call for a stop to anti-British violence on Cyprus.

Lennox-Boyd disclosed that an offer by Lord Ismay, the retiring British secretary general of NATO, to conciliate the differences had been accepted.

Greek Cypriot Reaction

Greek Cypriot nationalists in Cyprus immediately attacked the British plan. They said the issues must be settled directly between Makarios and the British government.

Themistocles N. Dervis, Greek Cypriot mayor of Nicosia, said the Cyprus problem is not a question of NATO member differences.

"NATO is mostly made up of colonial powers who would not even agree to raising the Cyprus question before the U.N.," Dervis said.

British Navy Tugs Defy Strike, Pull Liner To Sea

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Thursday, March 21 (P)—Six British admiralty tugs took the New York-bound liner Queen Mary out to sea early today in defiance of striking shipyard workers. Union leaders declared they would retaliate with action to paralyze the whole port.

Office workers of the Cunard Line east of the mooring lines of the big ship.

While hundreds of passengers lining the rails clapped and cheered, the tugs pulled the liner out into the shipping channel.

Union officials circled the tugs in a motor launch, shouting that civilian sailors on the tugs were strikebreakers.

Cabinet ministers ordered the Royal Navy tugs to take a hand. The 81,000-ton Queen Mary, with

Vanderbilt Weds Post-Debutante

CHICAGO, March 20 (P)—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, 46, sportsman and heir to one of America's greatest fortunes, was married March 12 to Miss Jean Harvey, a willowy Chicago post-debutante, her parents reported today.

Mrs. Daggett Harvey, the mother, said the wedding was in Mexico City and that no family members were present. She added that Vanderbilt and his 20-year-old bride are now in Florida and later probably will live in his Long Island, N.Y., home.

Vanderbilt, owner of the race horse Native Dancer, was divorced by Mrs. Jeanne Murray Vanderbilt in Gooding, Idaho, last December. The couple have two children, Heidi, 8, and Alfred Jr., 6.

Reds Deal Blow To Nehru Party

NEW DELHI, March 20 (P)—Communists have won control of an Indian state legislature for the first time. It was the hardest jolt to Prime Minister Nehru's ruling Congress party since the country became independent.

The Reds scored their victory in Kerala, a new state established last fall on the tropical Malabar coast of southern India. Kerala's 13½ million people are crammed 800 to the square mile, and unemployment is a perennial problem.

The Communists professed to be on their good behavior and promised to govern Kerala according to the Indian constitution.

Returns from India's 19-day second national election, as added up today, gave the Communist party 59 seats in the 126-member legislature and 5 seats to independents pledged to support the Communists.

Congress party candidates had 42 seats, Socialists 9, the Moslem League 8 and a non-Communist independent 1. Two districts still were unreported.

Johnston Seeks Federal Payroll Cut Of 300,000

WASHINGTON, March 20 (P)—Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) announced today he is introducing legislation to cut federal employment by about 300,000 for a prospective billion-dollar budget saving.

Johnston heads the Senate Civil Service Committee. He said in a statement that he is accepting President Eisenhower's "challenge to reduce the budget" of $71,800,000,000 in proposed spending for the year beginning next July 1.

Tax Cut "Long Overdue"

"I had hoped the administration would fulfill its campaign promise to the American people to cut expenditures, thereby paving the way for a long overdue tax reduction," Johnston said. "Unfortunately, the administration either does not want or does not know how to accomplish that result."

President Eisenhower has ordered department heads to re-examine their budgets in a search for economy. But he has insisted that if any substantial reductions are made they must come through programs Congress has authorized.

Parallels Byrd's Call

Johnston's proposal was in line with a call by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Spending, for a world-wide reduction in the number of Defense Department workers.

Byrd called "encouraging" the action of Secretary of Defense Wilson in ordering a 12 per cent payroll reduction in the Washington area and promising to extend this to some other headquarters areas. Wilson proposed no cut in combat personnel.

Man Admits Slaying Of Expectant Mother

BUTLER, Pa., March 20 (P)—A 29-year-old Pittsburgh man has admitted the slaying of a 25-year-old expectant mother at nearby Leechburg Jan. 30, state police reported today.

Sgt. James D. Barger of the Butler State Police barracks identified the man as Robert T. Davis. A formal murder charge will be filed against Davis, Barger said.

Barger said Davis admitted the slaying last night after an interrogation. He was arrested in McKees Rocks, a suburb of Pittsburgh, on March 9 on another charge.

The victim, Mrs. Emily Foster, wife of a 31-year-old steelworker, was found brutally beaten in an alley behind her home. She died in her husband's arms.

U. S. Expects Satisfactory Canal Setup

Washington Still Looks To U. N. For Mideast Settlement

WASHINGTON, March 20 (P)—The State Department said today the United States expects Egypt and the United Nations to make "a satisfactory interim arrangement" for running the Suez Canal at talks in Cairo this week.

This hopeful statement, by press officer Lincoln White, indicated at least three things:

1. The United States still looks to the United Nations for Middle East settlement despite strong pressures for U.S. action on its own to clip the wings of Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser. These pressures included Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir's flying visit from Jerusalem to confer with Secretary of State Dulles last Monday.

Plan's Rebuff Saddens U. S.

2. The United States is officially saddened that Egypt has not accepted a U.S.-supported plan for collecting future Suez tolls or reaffirmed the U.N.-endorsed "six principles" for future operations of the canal.

3. The United States reserves judgment on a six-point Egyptian proposal for running the Suez pending outcome of Nasser's talks at Cairo with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld. And it regards the Egyptian proposals as the Egyptian starting point for these negotiations—not as a final plan to be accepted or rejected.

Dulles, reached at Washington's National Airport as he left for the U.S.-British Bermuda conference, was noncommittal on the Egyptian proposal. In general, he commented, "the general trend is satisfactory" in the Middle East although there are "day-to-day fluctuations" in progress toward a just peace.

Egyptian Memo Unclear

A couple of hours later, White told his news conference:

"We expect that a satisfactory interim arrangement will be arrived at. Until we know that that is not the case we are reserving judgment on the Egyptian memorandum. It is not clear in our minds what is meant."

White also read a prepared statement which Dulles apparently had helped draft. It said:

"The United States supports a solution of the Suez Canal problem on the basis of the six principles approved by the Security Council of the United Nations on Oct. 13, 1956."

"We have noted the memorandum circulated by the Egyptian government."

Britain Facing Railway Strike

LONDON, March 20 (P)—Railway union leaders rejected a government wage award today and threatened to add another nationwide strike to Britain's labor disputes in the shipbuilding and heavy machinery industries.

The railroad strike threat developed 24 hours after 2½ million factory workers received union orders to begin a "snowball" walk-out next Saturday in manufacturing plants throughout the nation.

Britain's 70 shipyards already are closed by a walkout of 250,000 men. The shipbuilding strike forced a delay in the sailing of the liner Queen Mary for New York.

Unions are demanding a 10 per cent pay raise for workers in all three industries.

A government wage tribunal studying the railwaymen's demands offered a 3 per cent increase. Leaders of the 370,000-strong National Union of Railwaymen immediately turned it down as an "insult."

James Campbell, NUR general secretary, met at once with Sir Brian Robertson, chairman of the British Transport Commission, which operates Britain's state-run railroads.

Campbell emerged after nearly two hours and told reporters he would report back to his union colleagues "on the grave situation which now has arisen."

Nixon Ends His Tour; Tunisians 'Insult' French

TUNIS, Tunisia, March 20 (P)—Vice President Nixon ended his African goodwill tour tonight convinced American prestige is higher than he had anticipated in all the eight nations he visited during his 22-day trip.

But his departure was preceded by a flurry of hurt French feelings at the Tunisians' reception of Algerian rebel leaders.

French Justice Minister Francois Mitterrand walked out of celebrations marking Tunisia's first year of independence from France because the Algerians were there too. Mitterrand left the stadium where a gymnastic display by 5,000 Tunisian youths was in progress, talked to his car and drove to the airport where he took a plane back to France.

Mitterrand balked when he discovered the Algerian nationalist leader, Ferhat Abbas, was seated nearby.

The French have objected to Tunisian hospitality to nationalist leaders from Algeria, which legally is considered a part of France. But Tunisian and Moroccan governments newly freed from French protection, make no bones of their sympathy for the rebel nationalists.

Nixon Leaves Before Banquet

Mitterrand thus boycotted a 1,000-plate banquet tonight for 44 delegations from other nations to help celebrate Tunisia's independence anniversary. Nixon departed before the banquet.

His special airforce DC6 took off from Tunis bound for Washington where he later will report to President Eisenhower on suggestions for policy changes in this area. This conference will take place when the President returns from Bermuda.

"Cockeye" O'Leary Guilty In Prohibition-Era Slaying

PATERSON, N.J., March 20 (P)—A jury today found 63-year-old James (Cockeye) O'Leary guilty of murder in the second degree in a gangland, prohibition era slaying 28 years ago.

Passaic County Judge Edward G. Collesette set April 12 for sentencing. The charge of second degree murder carries a maximum sentence of 30 years in prison.

O'Leary was tried on an indictment which had lain forgotten since the shooting victim, Alex (Schmutz) Szabo, fell under a hail of bullets in the rear of a Passaic garage on May 2, 1929. The episode allegedly stemmed from a dispute over a Ramsey ale plant.

Four men were charged with the slaying and all were released on bail, O'Leary for $10,000 in

Teamster Boss Agrees To Bring Financial Data

WASHINGTON, March 20 (P)—President Dave Beck of the Teamsters Union was ordered today to appear next Tuesday before Senate rackets investigators—and to bring his financial records for 1949 through 1955.

This key development, heralding events that could be spectacular, interrupted testimony of Frank W. Brewster, a vice president of the Teamsters and chairman of the union's Western Conference.

Among other things, Brewster told the special Senate committee investigating improper labor and industry activities he owes around $42,000 to George Newell of Seattle, who makes some $300,000 a year in brokerage fees on the union's health and welfare fund. The debt developed out of a racing stable partnership, now dissolved.

Beck Beats Deadline

Brewster said he saw nothing wrong—no conflict of interest—in this or in 50-50 ownership with Beck of a leased-out filling station which does a big business with Teamster headquarters in Seattle.

The committee chairman, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), interrupted Brewster in midafternoon to say that just before the committee's 3 p.m. deadline he had received a telegram from Beck in Seattle advising that the Teamsters boss will show up with the requested financial records whenever he is called.

Beck had been given until 3 p.m. to volunteer such action or face a committee subpoena. He made his decision "on the advice of counsel," former Republican Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania.

Knights Dispute Brewster

Brewster's financial affairs, intertwined with those of the Teamster's Western Conference, have been under searching scrutiny. Today's installment of the story involved Brewster's personal and financial ties with the broker, George Newell, a racing stable partnership with a Seattle pinball machine operator and Teamsters member, and a political donation which Brewster said the Teamsters made to Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California.

Knights said in Sacramento "we have no record" of any Teamsters contribution for any of the governor's campaigns.

There was testimony also that Beck's son Dave Jr., and Beck's financial adviser drew $750 apiece for expenses at a Teamsters' conference in Los Angeles in 1952—although they were not on the official delegate lists.

House Slashes Agencies' Fund

WASHINGTON, March 20 (P)—The House today slashed $537,993,000 from the $5,923,195,000 in new funds requested by President Eisenhower to finance 18 independent federal agencies.

The cut exceeded by 21 million dollars the reductions recommended by the House Appropriations Committee last week and boosted to 684 million dollars total the House-voted cuts in four annual money bills considered this year.

Passage by voice vote sent the bill to the Senate.

The House voted to eliminate entirely 130 million dollars asked strategic and critical materials. Other reductions were scattered among a number of agencies.

These informants were unable to say whether the United States might have to "take up the slack" at any point as a result of cuts in British strength.

The United States realizes, officials said, that Britain has great financial and economic problems which may force cuts. But the American concern, they added, is for the effect these will have on free world defenses.

The government source said the boats were bought in Florida with funds reported provided by former Cuban President Carlos Prío Socarras.

An attempt by rebels in Cuba to seize or kill President Fulgencio Batista last week was beaten down by government troops with more than 40 persons killed.

The rebel fleet was reported lying off the coast of Quintana Roo.

Dinner Talks Held By Ike, Macmillan

Both Chiefs Expect
Meeting To Bolster
U.S.-British Ties

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda, March 20 (P)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan tonight opened their American-British partnership-mending conference with an informal "working dinner."

The two chiefs got into preliminary discussions over the table at their midocean club conference headquarters.

Only Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and the U.S. and British ambassadors, John Hay Whitney and Sir Harold Caccia, joined Eisenhower and Macmillan for the dinner talks.

Eisenhower arrived this afternoon on the cruiser Canberra and stepped ashore from a barge at Alibouys Point in Hamilton. He was met by Macmillan and Bermuda's governor, Lt. Gen. John Woodall.

Ike Given 21-Gun Salute

A 21-gun salute boomed from the British ship Vidal as the barge approached the shore. The President looked tanned and fit after his six-day cruise on the Canberra.

"Harold, how are you?" he said with a warm smile as he reached for the hand of the Prime Minister, a friend since World War II campaigning days in North Africa.

Macmillan arrived by air from London this morning.

Both chiefs expressed confidence that American-British friendship will be strengthened by their meeting.

Macmillan, in a statement on arrival at windswept Kindley Field Airport, said:

"We have a good deal to get done in a few days and I'm sure that our talks will be valuable and help build up strong pillars of Anglo-American friendship and cooperation upon which the whole life and future of the free world depends."

Meeting Of Old Friends

The President, speaking without notes, drew cheers from welcoming dignitaries when he declared:

"It is a great pleasure to be once again in this lovely island. Since the Prime Minister of Britain and I have had a chance to talk together about world problems much has happened."

"I'm sure that in the next few days we can do much to strengthen the long-term bonds that have bound together the British empire and my country. Our countries are very old friends, indeed, and this is a very happy occasion because of the fact that your prime minister and I are very old friends—a fact of which I'm very proud."

"I expect to have, therefore, not only a very interesting, enjoyable visit here to your island, but one which I hope will, and I am confident will, redound to the betterment of both our peoples because of the strong friendships and understandings that are certain to come out of it."

The conference opens formally tomorrow and will continue until Sunday.

British Military Cut Plan Due For Airing

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda, March 20 (P)—U. S. officials said tonight President Eisenhower's talks with Prime Minister Macmillan are expected to concentrate in early stages on Britain's plans to cut its military strength at key points in the world.

The United States realizes, officials said, that Britain has great financial and economic problems which may force cuts. But the American concern, they added, is for the effect these will have on free world defenses.

These informants were unable to say whether the United States might have to "take up the slack" at any point as a result of cuts in British strength.

Cuban Rebel Fleet Reported Off Mexico

MEXICO CITY, March 20 (P)—A source in the Mexican Interior Ministry said today a fleet of 12 fishing boats, manned by armed Cuban rebels, is waiting off the Mexican coast for a possible invasion of Cuba.

The government source said the boats were bought in Florida with funds reported provided by former Cuban President Carlos Prío Socarras.

An attempt by rebels in Cuba to seize or kill President Fulgencio Batista last week was beaten down by government troops with more than 40 persons killed.

The rebel fleet was reported lying off the coast of Quintana Roo.

Senate To Get Water Projects Omnibus Bill

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—Chairman Chavez (D-NM) of the Senate Public Works Committee said today he hopes to report to the Senate in the next few days an omnibus bill to authorize future appropriations for water projects which would cost approximately 1½ billion dollars.

The Senate, he said, probably will not consider the bill until after the Easter recess.

The bill, approved by Chavez' committee last night, would authorize future appropriations for more than 100 navigation, flood control and beach erosion projects. It is virtually identical to a bill passed last year but vetoed by President Eisenhower.

Projects in the bill include:

Navigation projects (figures are estimated costs):

Maryland—Baltimore Harbor and channels $28,161,000; Herring Creek $110,000; Betterton Harbor $78,000.

Flood Control:

Tennessee—Wolf River $1,032,000.

West Virginia—Brush Creek at Princeton $917,000; Meadow River at East Rainelle $708,000; Williams $350,000 (estimate).

Surveys authorized (no amounts listed):

Navigation projects:

Delaware-Maryland-Virginia—Chesapeake Bay with a view of elimination of water chestnut.

Virginia—Currioman Bay; Tabbs Creek.

Dime Wrappers Solve Robbery

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—A man who identified himself as a Baptist minister offered as bond money today $30 worth of dimes still in their bank wrappers.

A short time later police announced the wrappers had led them to the solution of a $500 theft from the First Federal Savings & Loan Assn.

Police said the dimes were offered as bond in a minor traffic case by Joseph Leo Walker, 30. Walker first said, police reported, that he had received the money in last Sunday's church collection from a member "who was in arrears."

The man named by Walker, police said, was Ralph W. Thomas, 38, a janitor for First Federal Savings & Loan Assn. Thomas, they said, then implicated Walker in the theft. The two were charged with housebreaking and destroying property.

Negro Sentenced To 20 Years For 10-Cent Robbery

BALTIMORE, March 20 (AP)—Reginald L. Stanley, 31, Negro, was sentenced to 20 years in the Maryland Penitentiary today for a 10-cent robbery.

He pleaded guilty to robbing a woman church-goer at the point of a knife March 6.

Stanley had been freed from prison New Year's Eve.

A charge that he robbed another woman of about $50 was dropped when the woman was unable to appear in court. Stanley denied that crime.

W.Va. Car Insurance Gouging Reported

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 20 (AP)—State Insurance Commissioner Louie Miller Jr. said today some overcharging for automobile collision insurance in West Virginia has been detected.

Miller said the overcharging apparently has not been widespread, but his department is making efforts to curb the practice. He said one company has returned $19,249.94 in overcharges to 515 car owners.

The commissioner said five companies involved originally were owned by the same people that own automobile financing companies. Most cases of overcharging were traced to insurance sold by car dealers who failed properly to inform buyers on rates.

Washington Co. Juvenile Judge Denied Right To Send Children To Reformatory

ANNAPOLIS, March 20 (AP)—Permission for the Washington County juvenile magistrate to send children to the Reformatory for Males was denied today for the time being at least.

The Maryland House of Delegates re-routed a bill introduced by Dels. Berkson and Ankeney of Washington County. The county delegation had the bill up for passage by the House this afternoon when Del. Murray (D-Howard) protested.

He said the Judiciary Committee, of which he is a member, had proposed to have juveniles sent to the reformatory near Hagerstown.

"This bill allows Washington County to do what we have denied to the other counties," Murray said in urging that it be sent to the Judiciary Committee for what he termed "treatment."

Murray said the committee had disapproved similar bills after testimony by reformatory officials that it would "disrupt their program" to have juveniles sent there.

Berkson argued they were referring to sentences by all trial magistrates while the Washington County proposal would be limited to the juvenile judge.

The delegates voted 43-37 to let the Judiciary Committee have the bill.

High School Students Tell Legislators Why Some Boys And Girls Go Wrong

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—School, Falls Church, Va., and the George School, Bucks County, Pa. Capitol turned expert witnesses yesterday on why parents and from another witness, Mrs. Elizabeth Ross, acting head of the U.S. Children's Bureau.

"Those youngsters are making just the points we turned up after years of study. The only difference is, they're saying it better than we do."

Among the points the youngsters made were: Parents are just about as hard to live with when they are too lenient as when they are too strict — anyway, they should be consistent.

The taunt "You're a sissy" from friends leads many a teenager wrong.

Grown-ups spend years keeping children busy with made-up things to do to keep them out of mischief, and then expect adolescents suddenly to develop wholesome interests for themselves.

There was even an outside expert among the teen-agers—ash blonde Annette Rossing of Berlin, Germany, an exchange student at the George School. Politely, in piquantly accented English, Annette said she found a great deal of materialism in America and young people "seem to be afraid to be independent and individual."

A hearing on a bill for federal grants to help states develop programs against juvenile delinquency had been droning along in routine fashion before the subcommittee. Chairman Elliott (D-Ala.) spotting the young people who had filed quietly into spectators' seats, asked if any of them

ONLY SPEED QUEEN
GIVES YOU THESE FEATURES!

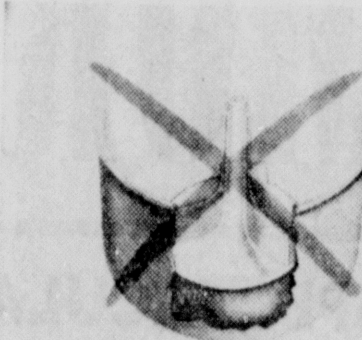

IN A FLAT BOTTOM TUB the water, as it is forced away from the agitator, strikes the perpendicular side walls of the tub and in doing so is retarded. The straight side walls throw the water straight back and thus reduce the overall velocity of the water action. Slower water action means slower washing speed.

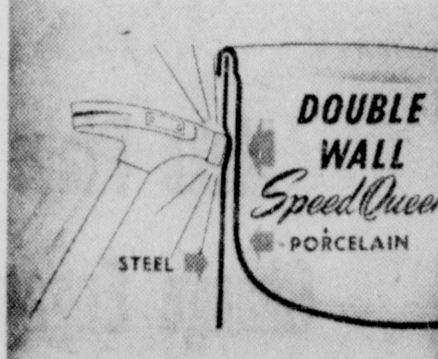

IN THE SPEED QUEEN BOWL-SHAPED TUB, as the water is forced away from the agitator, it glides up the smooth, rounding corners of the bowl without reducing the velocity of the agitated water. The result is the fastest washing speed developed in any washer.

DOUBLE WALL PROTECTION AND ECONOMY, KEEPS WATER HOT!

MOST WASHERS are of single-wall construction as shown above. The porcelain tub is always exposed to possible damage.

Speed Queen's double wall construction also provides an armor of steel around the porcelain tub to protect the porcelain against any possible injury. A child's playful hammer might mar the exterior finish but could not damage the vital porcelain tub.

German Prices, Pay Seen No. 1 Election Issue

By HERB ALTSCHULL

BONN, Germany, March 20 (AP)—Despite the sound and fury of political oratory on foreign policy, West Germany's critical national election this fall is likely to be decided on this most familiar issue: The pocketbook.

This was the considered judgment today of many foreign political experts in the West German capital.

Some rumblings of economic politics could be heard in the struggle of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government to head off a sharp increase in the price of bread.

Adenauer's economic chief, Ludwig Erhard, said the government must head off a spiral of price and wage increases.

Inflation will come if the government allows a round of wage-price boosts, he said.

Erhard's statement appeared to be directed at an expected opposition Socialist charge that prices are too high and wages too low.

The bread price increase permitted was around a penny. Bakers wanted an across-the-board 14-cents boost.

There is almost full employment in West Germany and the industrial machinery is still spinning at capacity.

But the West German worker is paid less than those in other European lands. The German Industrial Assn. reports that 75 per cent of German wage earners make less than 600 marks—$150—a month.

The extent of the Socialist shift to economic issues may be seen when the Bundestag debates plans for a common European market Thursday. Socialists have been speaking up quite a bit in opposition to some aspects of the program.

Both Adenauer's Christian Democrats and the Socialists, one expert said, announce themselves as vigorously in favor of steps to reunify this divided country.

"It's rather like being in favor of mother," he said. "Everybody's in favor of reunification."

Both parties are anti-Communist and neither trusts the Russians. And neither has come up with a detailed program for bringing off reunification.

"BETSY'S" PAINTINGS VETOED — Members of a group of artists and merchants vote "no," four votes to three, to admit the fingerpaintings of "Betsy," Baltimore Zoo chimpanzee, to a sidewalk art show scheduled to be held in Berkeley, Calif., June 28. The group viewed a couple of Betsy's paintings before casting their votes. Seated are Tay Farley, left, and Katy Madsen. First Spaceship Might Be Whirling Saucer

DETROIT, March 20 (AP)—A man who helped build the first aircraft to exceed the speed of sound says the only question of man's space travel is—when?

The instrument, says Lovell Lawrence Jr., of Chrysler Corp.'s missiles operation, probably will be a whirling saucer with its own man-made pull of gravity.

Lawrence described the shape of man's first spaceship at a meeting of the Hoyt S. Vandenberg Squadron of the Air Force Assn. and the Detroit Reserve Center here last night.

"We took all the information of what would be needed and what engineering problems had to be solved and then figured out the ideal type of craft to meet the demands," he said.

The fact that it came out looking like something out of science fiction is purely coincidental, he said.

Created to zip through space at 25,000 miles an hour, whirling like a merry-go-round, the ship would be about 50 feet in diameter, he said.

Passengers would live on the six-foot-high walls of the saucer, walking and sitting and standing sideways by the artificial gravity created by the spinning of the saucer.

A spin of about three revolutions a minute would provide sufficient centrifugal force to give the walls enough gravitational pull for men to live on them, he said.

The center of the saucer, which would house the power plant, would be slightly thicker than the outer walls.

Power, Lawrence said, would come either from an atomic reactor or burning, high-energy gas.

Take-offs and landings would be like those of conventional aircraft, except for speed, Lawrence believes the saucer could be designed to take off at 35 miles an hour.

The ship would escape the earth's gravity by opening nuclear jets wider to speed up movement. Then it would begin its spin.

The trip to Mars, about 4,200,000 miles, would take 9 to 12 weeks, he estimated.

ANNAPOLIS, March 20 (AP)—Henry J. Laque Jr., the Linthicum junk dealer who poetically defied an order to close his yard last year, drew a six-month jail sentence yesterday.

He was also fined $300 by Circuit Court Judge Benjamin Michaelson of illegal operation of the same junk yard he was ordered to abandon as a condition to his receiving a suspended sentence in the earlier case. Laque was convicted specifically of three charges of violating the county zoning ordinance on separate days in January of this year.

Laque appealed his earlier conviction all the way to the Supreme Court, which refused to review his case.

While the appeal was pending, he defied county authorities by publishing in a weekly newspaper an ad which said: "We don't care what the law don't allow, we're going to run a junk yard anyhow."

Laque contended today that the State had failed to prove that he was the owner and operator of the yard.

Lawmaker Plugs For National Lottery

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—If Rep. Paul A. Fino (R-N.Y.) has his way, each of us would have a chance to become as rich as Charles Van Doren. And we wouldn't need to memorize the encyclopedia either.

For Fino is a persistent, and enthusiastic, supporter of a national lottery.

He says the government has thought of about every way to raise money except the painless way. Under a lottery, he believes, citizens will be eager to fork over their money to the U.S. Treasury in the hope of winning a big prize.

Van Doren, a $4,000-a-year college teacher, picked up $129,000 before taxes, in a television quiz. Fino hasn't worked out details on how big the big prize would be in a national lottery. But it should be considerable since he has told the House he believes the annual take could run as high as 10 billion dollars.

For five years Fino has argued for a national lottery, but he hasn't made much progress with his colleagues.

"They feel it's a hot potato," he said today.

Fino thinks they're wrong. He says questionnaires have shown that 57 per cent of us admit we gamble on something or other, on everything from horse races to office pools to church raffles.

As a result, gambling has become big business, a 30 billion industry annually. Of this, from four to six billion dollars is wagered on foreign lotteries, where racketeers, Fino says, have been quick to move in.

"Fully half of the Irish Sweepstakes tickets sold in this country are complete fakes," he has said. Countries using the lottery as a means to raise money include those in Central and South America, Spain, Italy, France, Ireland, Australia, Turkey and Sweden. During the first four months of the English lottery the government took in 175 million dollars.

Still, many people object to lotteries, and for them Fino has dug up this quote from Thomas Jefferson:

"If we consider games of chance immoral, then every pursuit of human industry is immoral, for there is not a single one that is not subject to a chance, not one wherein you do not risk a loss for the chance of some gain."

Or there's this from the Very Rev. Francis J. Connell, dean of the School of Sacred Theology at the Catholic University of America:

"Gambling is not sinful."

Lotteries now are prohibited by state laws, and sending lottery tickets through the mails is forbidden by Congress. But it wasn't always this way.

Fino has discovered lotteries were quite common in our early history. The Continental Army was clothed and fed by a lottery, and George Washington bought the first ticket.

And for any congressmen who objects too strongly, Fino brings out his ace. The first Congress met in New York City.

"Lottery money," Fino says, "provided the roof under which that Congress met."

Pennsy Campaign

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Rail Road has undertaken a campaign to satisfy the natural curiosity of boys and girls about railroading and at the same time keep them at a safe distance. The program calls for presentation of a film and talks by railroad police officers before schools and related groups.

Whether you are building toward beauty, building your body or have some other goal, there are certain supplemental foods that are weight boosters. You'll have an increase in weight, in vitality, and improve your complexion as well.

Molasses: One tablespoon contains 65 calories. The mineral content is much more valuable than it is for sugar and should be used generously as a sweetener on cereals, fresh fruits and in cooking (Blackstrap molasses is not only one of the richest sources of iron but also of many other minerals).

Wheat Germ: This inexpensive food is packed with nerve-relaxing B-1 and a large amount of iron. It is delicious as a topping for puddings, ice cream, and bananas. You can sprinkle it on your favorite cereal or mix it into drinks made in an electric blender. Or, you can eat this wholesome food in flake form.

Powdered Brewer's Yeast: One tablespoonful supplies you with one-fifth of your daily requirement of B-2 and with many valuable minerals. Add it to your morning citrus fruit.

Fortified Milk: Everyone should drink at least six glasses of fortified, whole milk daily unless your complexion is a problem. If you do have skin difficulties, drink eight glasses of skim milk daily. Then double up on your intake of fruit juice.

Whenever possible, rest for 10 to 15 minutes after each meal.

Tomorrow: Bad Habits of Speech.

FOR THE FUTURE — Lovell Lawrence, Jr., a Chrysler Corp. engineer, says this is what a flying saucer of the future may look like from an engineering standpoint. He hastened to add he doesn't believe current reports of saucers containing little green men from Mars. Lawrence said the ship is designed to fly about 25,000 miles per hour and would be 50 feet in diameter. It would contain an atomic reactor for power or else use burning, high energy gas. The ship would whirl slowly and create a gravitation pull within the saucer. A trip of 4 million miles to Mars would require 9 to 12 weeks, Lawrence estimated. (AP Photofax)

Civic Leaders, Not Diplomats, Hold Peace Key

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Representatives of government are meeting in London to study disarmament. Representatives of society are meeting in Washington to study the human road-blocks on the way to peace.

And it seems probable that in the span of history, if there is to be any peace, it will come more from the efforts of such community leaders than from diplomats.

In Washington ministers, educators and other civic leaders are discussing with public officials the relationship of moral force to physical force. The meeting was arranged by the National Conference on Spiritual Foundations and paid for by the Ford Foundation.

It is part of a worldwide movement operating in various fields under various guises which usually comes back to the thesis that peace will be made not by governments but by peoples.

Yet peoples hardly understand what peace is all about. Their history is to move from war to war.

Governments are addicted to the old tenet that leaders cannot risk the fates of their nations on fallible human judgments. With few exceptions, governments begin their intercourse in an atmosphere of openly expressed distrust.

Peoples will be so well informed about each other that demagogues will not be able to convince them that they should become enemies.

Men who preach hate, and that man's end is to make war on other men, will be classified with the men who curse because they lack vocabulary.

People have learned to live peacefully in their local communities. Peoples have not learned to do so in the world community. In very recent days we have seen war substituted for ingenuity of two of the world's most highly civilized nations.

In London the diplomats are trying to establish who is right.

In Washington the representatives of society are trying to establish what is right, and how to foster it.

There is a vast difference.

Equity Suits Filed

A number of equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Jennings B. Robinson Jr. vs. Elizabeth J. Robinson, Willard Lee Getz vs. Nora Rae Getz, John Hamilton Newhouse vs. Helen Marie Newhouse, Mary Frances Stafford vs. Melvin Ray Stafford and Maria Naill vs. James Naill.

Another Week-Long War Drill Planned In Summer

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—The nation will hold another week-long war drill this summer—"Operation Alert 1957"—but Civil Defense officials who announced this last night said targets for simulated atomic attacks won't be revealed in advance.

In the three previous annual Civil Defense drills, target areas were announced months ahead of time. But the Federal Civil Defense Administration said this practice is being scrapped to make the exercise more realistic.

Another aspect will be less realistic, however. Federal agencies won't test their ability to carry on normal operations from secret relocation centers away from Washington, as was done in the past.

Some federal workers will evacuate the capital, though, and FCDA said "it is expected that certain organizations which would come into existence in the event of war will be tested on a limited basis for the first time."

Last year's Operation Alert saw hypothetical nuclear bombs rain down on 76 target areas in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone.

The attack period of the 1957 drill will extend from 11 a.m. EST, on July 12 to 6 p.m. July 14. The final phase—called the "survival action period"—will continue until noon on July 19.

West Point is the oldest engineering school and the oldest permanent military post in the nation.

New Postal Era On Horizon

Mechanical and electronic improvements promise to usher out 50-year-old hand methods of handling U. S. mail in revolutionary changes unparalleled in postal history now under way in the Post Office Department.

Latest word from the Post Office Department is that "next day delivery of letters," anywhere in the nation is not "too far distant."

In his newly-released annual report for 1956, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said new developments underway include:

Discussions of possible electronic transmission of mail; a machine (the working model is due in 1958) to read addresses on letters and sort them automatically; a machine that is being built to cancel mail electronically.

Booming Population No Cause For Alarm

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — In 1950, our U. S. population was about 150,000,000. Today we are 170,000,000 strong and the prospect is that our rapid expansion in numbers will continue. The 20,000,000 more Americans added since 1950 are equivalent to twice the present population of the six New England states!

Tremendous Growth Ahead

I am told that a baby is born in this country every eight seconds, and that, if present rates of increase continue, we could well have a population of 220,000,000 by 1975. This huge gain means that demand prospects for our products are good. Each new birth, each immigrant, and each person living a longer life than had previously been considered normal, adds to the potential demand that American manufacturers and merchants can attempt to satisfy.

This growth in population far exceeds earlier predictions. We well remember the experts telling us in the depression days of the thirties that the U. S. population would hit a peak — probably around 1980 — and then decline. And I recall it, they thought that peak might be around 154,000,000—a mark we actually passed about five years ago!

What About Labor Force?

The current boom in people is the result of an unexpectedly high birth rate and a steadily declining mortality. Modern medicine conquers many of the diseases which in the past have cut life short. Thus the area of our greatest population gain is among the very young and among our senior citizens. The adults who form the labor force are a decreasing segment of the total population. That being the case, we should be more concerned about labor-management relations in future years. I forecast that labor-force growth may continue to lag the total population rise to an increasing degree during the next twenty years. This widening gap will create problems for management except as the automatic factory becomes a factor in the situation. This is especially true if too small a proportion of the labor force possess the scientific and engineering skills required to keep us abreast of technological developments.

Instead of paying too much attention to the expensive frills of education (as we do now), we need to encourage high school boys and girls to become scientists, chemists, and engineers, as well as economists, business managers, merchants, and teachers. We ought to find out whether our schools are actually doing the type of educational job that needs to be done. If we do not mend our ways in this respect, we shall pay dearly in coming years for our foolishness.

More People: More Sales?
Growth in population suggests a rising demand for products and services. However, we should not be too quick to assume that this increase will always be translated into actual buying power. Much will depend on the economic conditions during the years ahead.

More people will not necessarily mean more sales if the government does not curb its spending. Such spending makes for highly progressive taxes which undermine profits and cripple business incentive. Neither will more people mean more sales unless we are able to adjust as a nation to the vast changes which are ahead. I have in mind the further development of atomic power, automation, speedier transport, and other new manufacturing and marketing techniques. Mere bigness in numbers and in potential resources will not assure our prosperity. Hence, my repeated emphasis on the need for more religious training of our children.

Too Many People?

Our rapid population growth scares some folks. They fear we cannot produce enough food for all these people. I do not share those fears. We have learned during and since World War II how to step up our crop yields to levels not dreamed of a generation ago. We now have food and feed surpluses. Irrigation and phosphate can produce miracles.

Surely more people in future years may well solve our current farm problem of overproduction. In fact, I forecast that the time is not far distant when we shall be eager to increase our farm output. We will step up our crop yields to new record highs through an intelligent use of irrigation and fertilizer and other soil and crop builders. I am optimistic about the future of American farmers.

The youngsters have been rehearsing for the program for several weeks and a number of dance and song specialties will be featured in the production.

The first grades will present the story of the "Gingerbread Boy" and "Sweet Betsy from Pike." The casts include Sandra Holler narrator, Sharon Chucci-little old woman, Ronald Smith-Gingerbread Boy, Curtis Sines-Waddley Duck, William Metheny-Three Corned Pig, Donna Miller-Blue Bird, Larry Kirk-Cat, Orndorff-Bell, and Mary Faye Bryson as the little girl.

The second graders will enact an Indian number in which Kenneth Blauch sings an Indian Lullaby. Thomas Barton plays the part of Davy Crockett in the other second grade part of the program. Linda Richardson, James Wallace, Linda Brennenman, and Bruce Whitacre are featured in the third grades' portrayal of "Songs and Dances of the South."

Johnny Ferrone, as Rip Van Winkle, Steve Vandenberg as Peter Stuyvesant, along with Donald Ward, Jean Brooks, Johnny Wright, Eoise Donnelly, and Billy Loar will present the story of "Dutch Children of New Amsterdam."

In the fifth grade production of "Uncle Remus and the Tar Baby" Floyd Rinehart is Uncle Remus, Benay Higgs is Br'er Rabbit, Robert Richardson is Br'er Fox, and Timmy Dick is the Tar Baby.

The story of "Pecos Bill" includes Darrell Bowman as Pecos Bill, Tim Summerfield as Widow Maker, John Higgs as Gun Smith, Alec Little as Texas, Bob Clites as Mushmouth, and Gerald Calvert as Moon.

In the "Spirit of America," presented by the sixth grade, Sherry Parsons, Timothy Martin, Linda Martz, Shirley Rotruck, Roger Jones, Thomas Miller, Sarah May Price, Richard McKenzie, and David Shoup are among the boys and girls taking leading roles.

This production is a leading activity at the school this year, and parents and friends of the school are invited.

You Think YOU'VE Got Tax Troubles?

WHILE YOU'RE LAMENTING over your income tax, think of the staggering sums the government is claiming from these taxpayers. The latter do not necessarily agree that they are delinquent. Frank Erickson, reputed gambling czar, and Poncet Davis, Akron, Ohio, manufacturer, have been hit with prison sentences. Congress is prodding the Department of Internal Revenue into a closer watch on high-bracket wage earners like Joe Louis, who will never catch up with his tax. (C.P.)

Inside Washington

By Central Press

WASHINGTON—Look for a possible near the end of March for fight on foreign aid funds. It could turn out that the rise in unemployment is merely a seasonal thing. However, it could well be a trend — and Commerce and Labor departments experts are keeping a close watch.

Georgia's highly respected Democratic Senator Richard B. Russell spoke the language of politicians when he raised the question of cutting foreign aid during Senate debate on the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Referring to the record on which congressmen must run for reelection, Russell said, "We cannot prevent an increase in domestic spending so long as we increase the foreign aid program."

Publication of the Fairless commission report on foreign aid gave further impetus to demands on Capitol Hill for a sizable reduction in funds.

Rep. Otto Passman (D), Louisiana, said he believes the President's request should be trimmed "at least" one billion dollars. Passman is chairman of the important House appropriations foreign aid subcommittee which will deal with the request.

THE COUGH—President Eisenhower's cough, which was later said to have started on inauguration day, caused more alarm among his health-watchers than was generally admitted.

Reliable sources said it was Ike's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, who first pushed for the trip to Arizona—which was first denied by the White House, then confirmed, and later cancelled.

Medical experts point out that a persistent cough is not only painful and energy-sapping, but also puts a very hard strain on the heart.

Those closest to the chief executive were greatly relieved when Mr. Eisenhower's cough showed signs of clearing up.

UNEMPLOYMENT WORRIES—With more than one million, 800,000 Americans on the unemployment compensation rolls, and many more not eligible for compensation out of work, there is serious government concern about the problem.

Officials are hoping that, with the advent of warmer weather, there soon will be enough industrial expansion and outside jobs to bring about a more normal situation. However, present figures still indicate this year's unemployment will be far above the 1956 figures.

A more accurate appraisal of the unemployment picture will be made by the end of the year.

The Outdoor Advertising Association of America quite naturally takes the opposite view. It says that prohibitions on billboards would be "unsound." The association contends that the problem is one for state and local governments. It points out that some states have strong anti-billboard laws while others have no laws at all.

Thus, the argument advanced by the advertisers is that federal intervention into the picture would confuse the issue and, in some cases, override the will of the states involved.

SCHOOL AID BATTLE?—Congress may sidestep one major battle over federal school aid only to run headlong into another. A bill to provide money for schoolroom construction died in the last session when Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D), New York, tacked on a rider barring aid for segregated schools. Southern congressmen rounded up enough support to defeat the measure.

This year, President Eisenhower is requesting $2 billion for new schoolrooms during the next four years. Rep. Augustine B. Kelley (D), Pennsylvania, has introduced a measure providing $3,600,000,000 over a six-year period based strictly on the number of school-age children in each state.

The chances are that a compromise will be reached — perhaps similar to the traditional system used to distribute federal road-building funds. Under this system, low-population areas in the plains and mountain states receive extra funds to compensate them for a lack of local tax money.

In any event, some kind of school aid bill is almost certain to be passed by Congress.

First child born in the White House was Elizabeth Tyler, granddaughter of President John Tyler, in 1842.

The Supreme Court's decision that pro football is subject to the monopoly laws tossed the question of baseball to Congress. Previously, the high court had exempted the national pastime.

The issue is so controversial that the bills won't get far in either the House or Senate. Many legislators simply don't want to be accused of interfering with the sport and are willing to let the court's decision stand.

Football probably won't get a hearing in Congress, either, even though the Supreme Court decision opened the way for a flood of damage suits by players against the National Football League.

BILLBOARD BATTLE—You will be hearing more about the "battle of billboards" as the government's multi-billion-dollar highway building program gets rolling. The opening guns already have been fired. Senator Richard Neuberger (D), Oregon, and Rep. Robert Hale (R), Maine, have offered bills to ban signboards along the 41,000 miles of super-highways to be built.

Senate Gets Views On Teachers Pay

ANNAPOLIS, March 20 (AP)—Supporters of a proposed pay raise for teachers told the money men of the Senate today that the requested $800 across-the-board increase over a two-year period is the "absolute minimum" needed to put Maryland in the national teacher market.

About 300 of 400 persons at the hearing raised their hands in favor of an increase in the sales tax if some additional tax bite is necessary to finance the pay raise.

The remainder — described as mostly "taxpaying parents and no 'teacher lobby'—were split about even on an increase in state income tax or a new tobacco tax to pay the bill.

Educators and spokesmen for parent-teacher, labor, farm and veterans organizations testified before the Senate Finance Committee in support of the raise. Fifteen speakers urged passage of the bill, and there was no opposition voiced at the hearing which packed the House of Delegates chamber.

Generally, it was the same cast and same script that the House Ways and Means Committee heard last week at a hearing on an identical bill introduced in that chamber.

Sources Diminishing

Dr. David W. Zimmerman, assistant state superintendent of schools, said Maryland needs 3,500 new teachers each year, but state colleges graduate less than one-third this number. He said Maryland schools have relied on out-of-state recruiting in the past, but these sources are now diminishing.

The bill would raise the minimum pay for $2,800 to $3,600, with raises of $400 this year and $400 next. Zimmerman said a "realistic" minimum salary would be $4,000, but the recommendation was held to $3,600 for "tax considerations."

At the request of Committee Chairman Turnbull (D-Balto County), Zimmerman furnished estimates that the cost of the bill would be $11,556,270 in the first year and $22,122,131 over the two-year period.

He said these figures include differential payments to principals and supervisors plus additional payments for social security and retirement benefits but do not include additional increases in the number of teachers.

237 Unfilled Positions

Charles W. Willis, president of the State School Superintendents Assn., said there are 237 unfilled teaching positions in Maryland this year and one-fourth of those teaching are "uncertified and without professional training."

"We are surrounded with a ring of school systems paying more than we are," Willis said. "Our own teacher schools give us only one-third the personnel we need and our out-of-state sources have been virtually eliminated."

Mrs. Fred G. Bull, president of the Maryland Congress of Parent and Teachers, said she represented 155,000 taxpayers who favor the pay raise and "are not going to buy something unless they know it's worth the price."

She said the whole $800 raise is needed if "we are to select teachers rather than recruit anyone—often from the bottom of the barrel—to put in the classrooms."

Mrs. Bull estimated the cost of the proposed raise would amount to $5 per taxpayer per year.

Several speakers said if the state doesn't increase teacher salaries, the counties must. Milton C. Raver, executive secretary of the State Teachers Assn., said financing the pay raise at a local level would increase property taxes 21 cents per $100 valuation in Baltimore and as much as 73 cents in one of the counties.

Larceny Case Is Settled

A case of larceny in which a Bedford area man was charged with the theft of material from a Southampton Township junkyard, was settled yesterday in a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace H. C. Bingham in Bedford.

A settlement was reached by the defendant, Earl Raymond Redinger, 39, and his brother, Hobart, with the owner of the junkyard. The defendant was ordered to pay court costs.

Mr. Bingham said last night that in Pennsylvania a petty larceny under $200 can be disposed of in a hearing before a justice of the peace.

The theft was solved through the cooperation of Pennsylvania and Maryland State Police. Redinger was nabbed Tuesday by Pennsylvania State Trooper N. C. Robbins and Tfc. D. A. Tucker of the LaVale Barracks of Maryland State Police.

Authorities said Tfc. Tucker was notified of the larceny and asked to keep a check on area junkyards since Southampton Township was just over the Maryland-Pennsylvania line. After a sale of items which corresponded with the stolen articles was discovered at a local junkyard, Tfc. Tucker and Trooper Robbins arrested Redinger at a local address. He waived extradition and was committed to Bedford County jail pending the preliminary hearing.

Man Is Missing

City police have been requested to be on the lookout for Marvin Abe, 26, of Keyser, W. Va., who has been reported missing after leaving Tuesday by taxicab to board a train in Cumberland. Police said Abe apparently did not catch the train. He is 5 feet 9 inches tall.

Evidence Heard In Three Cases About Dispute

Chief Judge George Henderson was on the bench in Allegany County Circuit Court all day Tuesday hearing the evidence in two law suits and one equity suit involving Mrs. Flo Durst, McMullen Highway, and Mrs. Anna S. Hartung, this city, executrix of the estate of Edward A. Stowell, her brother, who died December 13, 1955.

The jurist deferred his judgment in the three cases but stated from the bench at the conclusion of the trial that he was inclined at that time to dismiss all three of the cases because of lack of convincing proof. However, he said he would study the record more fully before announcing his decision.

One of the cases was tried first by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick, who decided that Stowell was entitled to $300 damages. Stowell had brought action against Mrs. Durst to recover certain of his possessions which he charged were being kept by her. This case was appealed by Mrs. Durst December 21, 1955, eight days after Stowell's death.

In the meantime Mrs. Durst had filed suit December 2, 1955, against Stowell. She charged in that suit that Stowell owed her for four months board, 14 months office rental, 18 months garage rent and had failed to repay $1,000 she said he borrowed from her. He had boarded at her home in Frostburg and later when she moved to McMullen Highway, she declared.

The equity action was brought November 20, 1956, by Mrs. Durst against Mrs. Hartung, executrix of Stowell's estate, who also had been made a party to the other actions after her brother's death. Mrs. Durst in this suit asked the court to declare null and void the sale of Stowell's 1953 model automobile.

Stowell's car had been repossessed by the General Motors Acceptance Corporation and Mrs. Hartung had paid the indebtedness due. She then sold the car to Bruce Harold Stotler. Mrs. Durst contended that she had $1,104 invested in the car. That included the $1,000 loan to Stowell and $104 for four new tires.

Mrs. Durst was represented by Attorneys Earl E. Manges and Gorman E. Getty. Mrs. Hartung was represented by Attorneys Leslie E. Clark and Edward J. Ryan.

Senate Votes Down Move To Urge Laurel To Open Turf Club To Public

ANNAPOLIS, March 20 (AP)—The Maryland Senate, dropping quips like a better discarding mutual tickets after a race, refused today to urge that Laurel open its famed turf club to the public.

Sen. Goodman (D-Balto 5th), sponsor of a resolution designed to make the race track less exclusive, said the present members-only policy is "discriminatory."

Goodman said the club, like other track improvements, was built with "quasi-public funds." He referred to the one-half per cent of all bets which Maryland horse tracks must earmark for improvements.

Doesn't the state, asked Sen. Della (D-Balto 6th), give money to other privately owned institutions, such as Western Maryland and Washington colleges?

"Yes," said Goodman, "but that's for beneficial education. Can you get that at a race track?"

"If you have the right information," replied Della.

Della, defending the track's "freedom" to set its own policy for the turf club, quoted Patrick Henry: "I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death."

"Patrick Henry," interjected Sen. DiDomenico (D-Balto 2d) wasn't talking about Laurel Race Course."

Noting that Goodman had described the club as a sort of "rather plush night club," Sen. Turnbull (D-Balto County) drew a parallel.

At either place, he said, "You can watch fillies go around in circles and lose your money."

Sen. Shipley (D-Howard) said he was glad the penthouse-type club was so exclusive because it helps "keep the highbrows out of the

Hyde Introduces Tax Adjustments Bill For Business

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde has introduced a bill proposing tax adjustments for small and medium-size business.

His bill is a companion bill to legislation now pending and provides that a business may deduct from business net income, for tax purposes, an amount for investment purposes not to exceed 20 per cent of taxable income or $30,000, whichever is lower.

The bill makes provision for purchasing non-interest bearing estate tax anticipation certificates up to $100,000 for payment of estate taxes and would permit payment up to 10 years after death.

Under the present law, the estate tax is due within 15 months after the date of death. The amount of tax anticipation certificates purchased would be deductible from the gross amount of the estate for tax purposes.

Presidents And Their Travels

The President's lazy six-day voyage to Bermuda aboard the guided-missile cruiser Canberra has brought him to an important international conference, beginning today. Nevertheless, its atmosphere, with the President enjoying the sun on the deck of the naval vessel, has been a lot more relaxed than those of other Presidential missions to foreign shores.

The first time that a U. S. President left the soil of North America was in December 1918, when Woodrow Wilson sailed for Paris. There was much objection at home to Wilson's mission; many historians still believe he could have exerted much more effective influence on the World War I peace settlements had he avoided the diplomatic in-fighting. At any rate, although the voyage was strictly business, Senator Sherman (R-Ill.) offered a resolution in the Senate to declare the office of President vacant, and later a Representative gave an imitation on the floor of the House of the President "strutting" in Paris.

In those days, Presidential approval of bills was considered necessary before a Congress adjourned. So Wilson sailed back from France in February 1919 to be on hand when the 65th Congress ended, and then hurried back to Europe in March. During his month's absence he lost much of his hold over the Paris peace conference.

The atmosphere on all President F. D. Roosevelt's departures from these shores was grim, for all were in time of war. First FDR met Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain "Somewhere on the Atlantic" in August 1941, later went to Casablanca, then to Quebec, finally to Teheran and Yalta. The President's absence from the United States brought up the question of whether he could sign or veto bills that had not physically been "presented" to him. FDR sent Congress two veto messages while in Africa, but each was dated "The White House, Nov. 25." Each stated that the bill had been presented to the President that day. So the letter of the Constitution, at least, was observed.

President Truman went to Potsdam, later to Wake Island, and President Eisenhower himself has been to Bermuda and Geneva since he has been in office. And, of course, he made his famous trip to Korea as President-elect in 1952.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Cost Of Errors

Responsible statesmen do not knowingly or consciously commit their countries to costly errors; what happens always is that human factors, psychological factors which are just as significant historically as the clash of economic and political forces play their part in the confusions which are engendered not by the course of events but by the whims of men. The destruction of the British, French and Dutch Empires by American attitudes antagonistic to what is called colonialism has created a vacuum in Asia and Africa. That vacuum is being filled not by independent governments but by Soviet Russia.

The whimsicalities of our State Department which seems to believe that it is possible to maintain NATO while destroying NATO countries are as personal as the selection of a necktie. Historically it has already had the result of forcing Western Europe together into the Common Market which is a cover for a Western European alliance against all comers. It could leave the United States without an ally, and that is why the conference between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan is so important. It may be the decisive meeting which will determine whether the Anglo-American Alliance has been drowned in the waters of the Suez Canal.

The role of Israel has been over-dramatized. From the standpoint of historic perspective, it is not the battles over the Gaza Strip or Aqaba that will decide the course of history. It is rather that Great Britain has been pushed out of Egypt and Jordan and that the Suez Canal has ceased to be an international waterway and has become a domestic canal, controlled solely by Egypt for its own political advantage or that of its ally, Soviet Russia. The ultimate historic effect of this would be to turn the Mediterranean into a Soviet lake, imperilling Turkey, Greece, Italy and the British in Gibraltar. On the south bank of the Mediterranean, it could imperil every American air base. It could be one of the decisive victories in history.

These are the frigid facts that President Eisenhower will face at Bermuda, and if he should decide that doctrinaire pacifism is preferable to historic reality, this country will become as isolated as it has not been since 1938. If isolation is an evil and a peril, as some say, this is the moment in history when a choice must be made. The alternatives will be a continuance of the Anglo-American Alliance or a rejection of alliances with any country, a return to the doctrine of going it alone to avoid war at any cost.

There is a tendency to believe that because of President Eisenhower's special gifts, his friendly disposition and the regard in which he is held throughout the world, he can manage to talk European and Asiatic statesmen out of their worst intentions.

While the President's ability as a conciliator must be recognized, it must also be acknowledged that no statesman can long last in his own country who agrees to his country's dissolution and loss of position. And that is what faced the leaders of Great Britain, France, Israel and Egypt during the so-called Egyptian crisis. Therefore there is today no Middle Eastern settlement.

For what the United States and the United Nations require is that the great nations should not defend themselves against whatever the weak and backward nations do to them, even if the weak and backward nations are acting as Soviet allies in Russia's march toward Empire. It is an untenable position which was accepted as long as Western Europe was wholly dependent upon the United States for revival and reconstruction. Today no European country is actually dependent upon the United States, although European aid is acceptable up to a point. The danger point is naturally suicide.

This is what we face in world affairs and we might as well know where we stand. During recent years, Americans seem to have developed a tendency to assume that money will solve all problems and we are now engaged in peddling $200,000,000 in the Middle East. There are problems that money cannot solve and those involve national dignity and self-respect. The Europe of 1957 is not the Europe of 1945 and the sooner that is recognized and acknowledged, the fewer will be the errors of policy—errors which during the past four years have been startlingly notorious.

'Now They Can't See A Thing'

'Fears' About Ike's, Nixon's Traveling False

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Is the Democratic Party trying to turn the clock back to the days of Harding, or even McKinley?

Questions like this are being asked not only because so many of the Democratic members of the Senate have been voting on the "isolationist" side of recent issues in American foreign policy but because the Democratic chairman of the House Judiciary Committee has just announced that he is introducing a bill to express the will of Congress that the President, the Vice President and the Secretary of State should not be "out of the country at the same time."

One is led to believe that the airplane, which can land alongside a cruiser at sea with mail and official papers, or the radio telephone or telegraphic communication from ship to shore have not yet been invented. It seems to be overlooked, too, that the President can be flown back to the mainland in a couple of hours.

One is led by the critics to think also that, when a President of the United States goes aboard a war ship flying the American flag, he is not on American territory. This is what they used to say forty and fifty years ago, in fact until the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt started the custom of moving overseas to Yalta and other places—even during World War II—aboard U. S. Navy cruisers. Mr. Roosevelt went to sea once aboard Vincent Astor's yacht—a private vessel—without arousing even Republican criticism.

The fact that the Secretary of State is out of the country has not a thing to do with Presidential succession either. It used to be that the Secretary of State was next in line after the Vice President, but this was changed in 1947 by an act of Congress when the Republicans were in control. It provides that the Speaker of the House and then the president pro tempore of the Senate would become President in the event that anything happened to the President and Vice President. Since both Speaker Rayburn and Senator Hayden are Democrats, it would mean that the country would have a Democratic administration, so it would seem that this is something which should worry the Republicans, not the Democrats.

There is, of course, no function that the Vice President—even if he were in the United States—can perform that the President is required by law to do or which the President could not do when he is on board an American warship or inside an American embassy abroad.

When the Secretary of State, moreover, is out of Washington, the Undersecretary of State becomes Acting Secretary of State and is empowered to handle all legal documents. No interruption to public business presents itself here.

It is not clear, therefore, what the purpose of the Democratic Party's spokesmen was in raising the issue of the absence of the President, Vice President and Secretary of State unless it was to cast some reflection on the conduct of their respective offices.

The President has been away from the White House, of course, only because of health reasons, and surely even the Democrats haven't strayed so far in the partisan battle as to continue to try to make an issue of the President's health. It cost them plenty of votes in the last election.

As for Vice President Nixon, his mission to Africa to offset what the Communists are doing there was arranged by Mr. Eisenhower many weeks ago—long before the President found that his cough required sunshine and a sea trip to clear it up.

The president pro tempore of the Senate, of course, presides over sessions of that body in the absence of the Vice President. Few Vice Presidents traveled more than the late Vice President Barkley. No criticism was voiced then.

As for Secretary of State Dulles, he had a long-standing engagement to attend in Canberra, Australia, an important meeting of the nations which are members of the Southeast Treaty Organization. It turns out now that, with the death of President Magasaysay of the Philippines, the close personal relations established at Canberra by Mr. Dulles with Vice President Garcia of the Philippines were especially opportune. For the United States to have sent a subordinate to that meeting in Australia would have been regarded as an affront by the other countries in the SEATO alliance. It is a lucky thing, too, that an experienced diplomat like Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, who is familiar with Communist intrigues, is at this time being transferred from Moscow to Manila.

But the carping criticism really has little to do with the merits of all these questions. The truth is that some members of the Democratic Party in Congress now are outdoing what Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin was accused of doing in "encroaching on the prerogatives of the Executive Branch of the Government." Although the President is charged by the Constitution with the duty of conducting the foreign relations of the United States, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has appointed a special subcommittee whose main object seems to be to badger the Secretary of State at the very time when a crisis is going on in the Middle East.

Picayunish items in the press are seized upon for inquiry. Thus, when a former attaches at the White House made an off-the-cuff statement in a speech a few days ago about the breakup of the Aswan Dam negotiations with Nasser of Egypt in 1956, the Senate subcommittee promptly announced that it would "investigate."

But there's one thing the Democratic Senators will never investigate, and that's the background of the episode in which certain Democratic Senators served a warning against spending money for the Aswan Dam financing. In fact, the Senate Appropriations Committee early in 1956 wrote in its foreign aid report a specific provision that no funds could be used for the Aswan Dam without the prior approval of the committee. It was quite clear at the time that Senators from cotton-growing states were fearful of the competition of Egyptian cotton grown at lower cost if the dam were built.

Many of the Democratic Senators, for some of these same reasons, voted recently against the provision in the Eisenhower Doctrine resolution authorizing the President to use $200,000,000 for economic aid in the Middle East. If the Democratic Party thesis of today is that Nasser should have been given the Aswan Dam, then the thesis of yesterday implies that the materialistic interests of a special economic group interfered with the peace efforts of the United States. It's a strange contradiction.

Chubby Teen-Agers Probably Are Inactive

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There is news for the plump high school girl. She is stout because of inactivity, not because of eating too much. Her excess poundage may have an adverse effect upon health and my advice is to slim down before obesity affects future well being.

There are other reasons why the chubby adolescent should reduce. This is the time of life when appearance is most important and girls of normal weight are peppier and more popular.

A group from the Harvard school of public health made a detailed nutritional study on two sets of high school girls. Of these, 28 were obese and an equal number were of normal weight. All were of similar height, age, and school grade. The well upholstered matured earlier and stopped growing sooner, which was regarded as an indication of accelerated physical development.

This was advantageous to girls who were destined to be tall but not to the young ladies who stopped growing before reaching average height. Furthermore, there is no health significance in menstruating at an earlier age. Girls who start early usually have a later menopause.

The study revealed also that the fatso is not physically active. Little or no time is devoted to household chores and participation in sports. They detest walking, and in this respect are lazier than their slick chick friends.

The researchers cited both groups by a system of activity indices. The difference in energy expenditure was marked. The hefty ones were not consuming any more calories than the slim; their extra poundage came from the calories stored as a result of inactivity.

Both groups danced but the slender misses danced twice as much as the pudgy-wudgies. The Diplomatic Problem: Will Ike Meet Queen Elizabeth At Airport Or Not?

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—There was a certain amount of diplomatic joshing about the manner in which President Eisenhower went to the airport to meet King Saud of Saudi Arabia, while refusing to meet other dignitaries. This question of who-meets-whom, however, is no joke in other world capitals.

It has been the topic of so much private discussion that the British Foreign Office has sounded out the State Department informally as to whether Eisenhower would go to the airport to meet Queen Elizabeth if she visits Washington next fall. The implication was understandably clear that the Queen would probably not come to Washington if she rated below the kind of backward but oil-rich country where slave trading is still legal.

The question of who-meets-whom was also discussed inside British diplomatic circles in regard to the visit of President Eisenhower to Bermuda. It was even suggested, again informally, that Prime Minister MacMillan might arrive in Bermuda after the President, thus letting Ike be met by Foreign Secretary Lloyd.

The idea was, of course, discarded. But the fact that it was even discussed indicates the extent to which foreign governments have resented the fact that such old friends of the United States as Winston Churchill were not met by Eisenhower while the King of Saudi Arabia was.

The British, incidentally, are not alone. The new Negro state of Ghana began taking its new-found independence seriously when Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah did not show up at the airport to meet Vice President Nixon. The excuse was the same one as that given by Eisenhower in the past—Namely, that Nixon was not head of a state.

Under The Dome

Sen. Lyndon Johnson has been wooing newsmen at private breakfasts in what are now called "Lyndon's charm schools."

The Democratic leader is both vocal and vigorous. If he said in public what he tells newsmen, he would make more headlines on Capitol Hill. Here are recent samples: "Either Dulles lied to Congressional leaders or Nasser lied to Dulles regarding Egypt's move back into the Gaza Strip." . . . "The Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East is a bunch of hogwash." . . . "I am shocked that the three leaders of the United States government should all be out of the country at the same time."

When visiting the USA, Queen Frederika of Greece was so upset when she learned the President would not come to the Union Station to meet her that she refused at first to take the train from New York to Washington. . . . Actually, the President has not followed the explanation officially given at the time of King Saud's visit that he only goes to the airport or railroad station to welcome heads of state. No fewer than 15 heads of state have come to Washington, yet the only one he met was King Saud. The list includes: The King and Queen of Greece, the President of Italy, the President of Brazil, the President of Uruguay, the President of Turkey, Governor General Vincent Massey of Canada, President Remon of Panama, the Emperor of Ethiopia, President Syngman Rhee of South Korea, President Tubman of Liberia, the Shah of Iran, President Magloire of Haiti, President Castillo Armas of Guatemala, and President Sukarno of Indonesia.

Cables from Rome report that much was made of Mrs. Nixon's birthday on March 17 and the fact that she came into the world on St. Patrick's Day.

Mrs. Nixon is a gracious lady whose birthday would be unimportant if it were not for the fact that the Vice President has wooed Irish voters with the idea that his wife "Patricia" was a kindred soul of the patron saint of Ireland. However, Mrs. Nixon's birth certificate filed in Ely, Nev., shows that she was born not on St. Patrick's Day, but on March 16, 1912, and that her name was not Patricia, but Thelma Catherine Ryan. According to Dr. A. F. Adams, the doctor who signed the certificate, Mrs. Nixon came into the world at 3:25 a. m. on March 16.

Alcorn's Demo Skeletons

He brushed it off with a press conference quip, but GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn apparently is embarrassed over Democratic skeletons in his family closet.

At a recent press conference, Dick Cull of the Dayton News asked Alcorn whether he was related to Dayton City Commissioner R. William Patterson, the recently defeated Democratic candidate for Congress last year.

"If we are related," cracked Alcorn, "he is so far away he got out of the Republican influence."

The fact is that Alcorn and Patterson are second cousins, and the GOP chairman knows it. Their families have kept in close touch, frequently visiting each other. Another cousin, Mary Beth Patterson, married another well-known Democrat, Dave Tarbell, county prosecutor for Brown County, Ohio, and onetime Democratic candidate for Congress.

George Washington's Skill

The tax-collecting Internal Revenue Service, never a mecca for sightseers, especially at this time of the year, is going in for tourist showpieces. The IRS public relations office has a hefty arsenal of firearms seized in raids, plus a big, potbellied still believed to have been owned and operated by George Washington. (It was perfectly legal in Washington's day. The still in question and many others like it were shipped from England).

Not to be outdone, the Commerce Department meantime has installed an earthquake recorder, which is becoming almost as big a tourist attraction as the Department's census tabulator and fish-and-turtle aquarium.

Sleep, little baby, sleep.
The holy angels love thee
And guard thy bed and keep
A blessed watch above thee.
Sleep through the holy night.
Christ-kept from snare and
And sorrow,
Until thou wake to light
And love and warmth tomorrow.

Last year 11,000 members of the United States forces stationed abroad married European girls. Preferred by our boys over there were English girls. After that German girls and then French. There are 225,000 bachelors in their 20's in our forces in Europe. Each averages about four proposals of marriage a week from foreign females eager to become brides of Americans. Considering this, it is remarkable that only 11,000 of our bachelors were captured by European bachelorettes.

HORSES AND WOMEN

A young man of Manhattan who is considering a matrimonial alliance with a red-haired woman asks for some facts about that type of female. According to our Horses and Women experts, redheads fall in and out of love easily. When married they want to dominate the household and usually do except when married to a red-haired man.

Only a redhead knows how to handle a redhead. Red hair is inherited. Usually from the father's side. Redhead females are all right in technicolor films but they televise poorly. They are inclined to suffer from rheumatism and are difficult to anaesthetize. The most intelligent of redheads, but also the most difficult to handle, are those with sea-green eyes. The most intensely affectionate redheads are those with brown eyes, especially if they also have freckles.

CIGAR SMOKERS

Cigar smoking is on the increase in this country. Pipe smoking is down 10 per cent. So the records indicate. In the past, cigar smoking has suffered because of feminine objections to it. Husbands have bowed to these objections rather than be subjected to wifely disfavor. However, it appears the cigar smokers are beginning to assert themselves and to share the opinion of Kipling that "a woman is only a woman but a good cigar is a smoke."

SIDELIGHTS

Men born under Sagittarius (November 23-Dec. 21) suffer more from enginess than any other males of the Zodiac. Or, so say the stargazers. . . . My progno continues to astound me. Now I have a reader in Rib Lake, Wis. I'll bet the fishing is good there. And how about the canoeing in the moonlight in the good, old summertime?

WEATHER

Where in the U.S.A. is the place holding the nation's hottest day record? How about greatest rainfall in a month record? The dry spell record? Most snow in a calendar month? Greatest four-day fall of snow? Well, sir, all these places are in California. So, if a Californian claims his state has a more varied climate than any other in the union, don't argue. Here are the records; Hottest day, 134 degrees. July 10, 1913, Death Valley, Calif. Most rainfall a month. At Helen Mine, Calif., 71.54 inches. Jan. 1909. Longest Dry Spell. At Bagdad, Calif. No measurable rain for 767 days. From Oct. 3, 1912 to Nov. 8, 1914. Most snow in one month. Three hundred and ninety inches. At Tamarack, Calif. January, 1911: Greatest four-day fall of snow. One Hundred and Eight inches. At Tahoe, Calif. 1952.

Youth Takes Appeal After Conviction

A youth with a long criminal record yesterday was sentenced to 18 months in the Maryland House of Correction in Trial Magistrate Court.

Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason sentenced Donald Willard Swanger, 20, of 119 Roberts Street, after finding him guilty of petit larceny. He was apprehended last week along with Eugene Paul Swick, 25, Mary Street, in connection with a series of thefts of metal from the Western Maryland Railway Company.

Yesterday Swanger waived a jury trial and entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of stealing scrap metal, valued at $61.84.

Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, presented the state's case. He called Edwin Lilya, county criminal investigator, two Western Maryland Railway policemen, and a member of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company's police department to the stand.

Lilya read a statement he said Swanger had given under oath, admitting the thefts. The statement related how Swanger had stolen the metal and hauled it away.

When the defendant took the witness stand he admitted making the statement, but informed Magistrate Mason that he had not told the truth. He testified he was never near the area where the metal had been stolen.

In sentencing the youth, Magistrate Mason noted that in 1952 and 1954 he had been paroled in Juvenile Court, and that in 1955 he was sentenced to 18 months in the Maryland House of Correction in Circuit Court on a breaking and entering charge. Swanger served seven months of the sentence and was released.

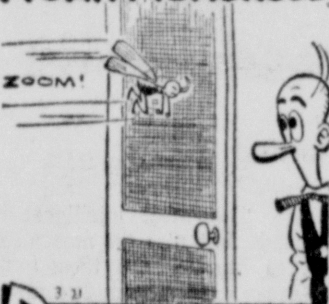

Following the hearing Swanger prayed an appeal, and Magistrate Mason set bond at $1,000 for the defendant's appearance before the April term of Allegany County Circuit Court.

He was committed to Allegany County Jail for lack of bond.

Three Garrett Civil Service Bills Signed

Three Garrett County bills were signed into law by Governor McKeldin and details of that county's civil service bill have been announced.

House Bill 856 sponsored by the Garrett County delegation sets up a classified service for certain Garrett County employees.

The bill sets up a system the same as is provided in the State Merit System. It utilizes the facilities of the state employment commissioner and authorizes the establishment of classifications, salary schedules and working conditions that are provided under the state system.

The county's Classified Service Board will consist of the clerk of Circuit Court, the register of wills and the county treasurer. Under classified service will be the clerk to the Board of Garrett County Commissioners, road engineer or supervisor and county road employees, clerk to the county treasurer, and all salaried employees in the office of the clerk of court, the county treasurer and the register of wills.

The classified service board is to adopt promptly after the effective date of the bill standards, qualifications, salary schedules, and method of selection of new employees.

No present county employee would lose his or her job, nor would they have a salary decrease.

The board can prescribe standards of performance in any job, and can authorize facilities for special training to increase the efficiency of new and old employees.

The employee can be permanently separated from the classified service through resignation, rejection on probation, or removal for cause.

The employee has recourse upon dismissal of a hearing through the state employment commissioner, whose decision will be final.

The governor signed these bills into law.

House Bill 160, authorizing the Garrett County commissioners to set the expenses of the sheriff.

House Bill 275, raising the pay of the Garrett commissioners from $900 to $2,200 and discontinuing their expense allowances.

House Bill 522, paying the Garrett County Orphans Court Judges $600 a year instead of $8 per day.

Judge Harris Proposes Four Bill Changes

Changes in juvenile case handling have been suggested by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in recommendations requested by Allegany County's legislators on the companion "two judges for this county" bills.

The recommendations were asked on Senate Bill 306, which would provide a second judge for this county on the retirement of Chief Judge George Henderson next year, and Senate Bill 614, which would elevate Allegany County Juvenile Court to Circuit Court status.

Judge Harris listed four recommendations.

The first would be for the Legislature to provide the Allegany County Circuit Court for authority to appoint a master to hear juvenile cases.

This could be done by amending Senate Bill 614, or by another bill.

The second would be to provide for the junior judge of Allegany County, in the event the companion bills are passed, to hear juvenile and non-support cases. In his absence, Judge Harris suggested that any other qualified judge in the circuit could hear them.

The third recommendation of Judge Harris is to include Allegany County with those 15 Maryland counties that allow the trial magistrates to have concurrent jurisdiction with the Circuit Court in non-support cases.

This would ease the work of the Circuit Court, he added.

The final recommendation was to set for the disposition of pending juvenile cases in case both bills are passed.

Judge Harris called for the passage of the companion bills. One judge, he declared, cannot handle the work load in Allegany County Circuit Court.

And, he added, Juvenile Court Magistrate Morris Barron has informed him that Juvenile Court business takes all his time.

ROTC Pledges Named At PSC

Report Cites Fire Pay Hike Brush Fires In This Area

Although the current damp weather has acted as a deterrent towards brush and grass fires, authorities in nearby Morgan County, W. Va., have emphasized that permits must be obtained for brush burning.

West Virginia Conservation Officer Woodrow W. Parsons and Morgan County Forest Protector James Honaker pointed out that two fires over the past weekend burned an estimated 400 acres of land in that region.

Some 200 acres were burned Saturday when brush burning got out of hand on the Clem Largent farm and spread to the Taylor Farlow farm near Fisher's Bridge between Great Cacapon and Paw Paw. On Sunday afternoon, nearly 200 acres were burned over near Round Top in the Sir John's Run sector.

Illegal brush burning have also caused a number of fires in other sections of Morgan County, Parsons said, although no damage was reported. Permits for burning may be obtained by applying to Honaker.

Youth Arraigned In Escape Attempt

A 17-year-old Wiley Ford youth was arraigned Tuesday before Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell in Romney, W. Va., on a charge of aiding and abetting Hampshire County Jail prisoners.

Trooper J. L. Martin of the West Virginia State Police said the boy is being held for trial today in Juvenile Court. He added that the youth also faces the possibility of a violation of probation charge in the case.

Last week police charged the boy passed a .22 calibre rifle, a box of cartridges and a hacksaw into the main cell block of the Hampshire County Jail in Romney. He was arrested on Monday.

Trooper Martin added that the prisoner is on probation from a breaking and entering charge in Elkins, W. Va.

Fire Pay Hike For Garrett Before Senate

The State Senate has received a Garrett County delegation-sponsored measure that would increase the allotments made by the county to eight volunteer fire departments.

Passed in the House Monday was House Bill 824 sponsored by the Garrett delegation which authorizes and directs the Board of Garrett County Commissioners to pay these sums to these companies:

Oakland, $2,800; Grantsville, $2,800; Deer Park, Accident, Friendsville, Kitzmiller and Gorman, all $2,000, and Bloomington, $1,800.

H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners, said the bill increases considerably the current allotments.

Currently, the appropriation to the companies is as follows: Oakland, $1,500; Grantsville, Deer Park, Friendsville, Kitzmiller, all $1,200, and Accident, Gorman and Bloomington, all $800.

Six Million Spent On County Road Improvement

The State Roads Commission has or will have under way by April 1 what is believed to be the largest highway and bridge improvement program at one time in Allegany County.

The program involves 11 contracts totaling $5,934,916.67. All but one are under way and the contract for that has been awarded but the notice to proceed has not been received, according to G. Bates Chaires, SRC district engineer.

Six of the 11 contracts are for highway improvements involving 14,370 miles, according to figures compiled by Lewis Metz, engineer at the district office on Braddock Road.

These figures reveal that 2,287,370 cubic yards of dirt must be moved for the projects. In addition, 312,000 cubic yards must be "borrowed," dirt taken from pits at other sites, in order to complete some projects.

The projects are as follows: Contract A466-617—Connecting road between State Route 51 and Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company Works 7 with bridge over B&O Railroad. Distance .928 miles. Financed by Allegany County and the federal government with supervision by the State Roads Commission. The contractor is George F. Hazelwood Company. This project is 52.58 per cent completed and is expected to be in use about the middle of summer. Cost $444,692.02.

Contract A461-4-620—Widening relocation and surfacing of U. S. 220 from south of Rawlings towards McCoolle. Distance 1.419 miles. This is 69.61 per cent complete and is expected to be completed about the middle of July. Contractor is Cumberland Contracting Company and the cost is $324,954.

Contract A461-7-620—Widening relocation and surfacing of U. S. 220 from south of Rawlings towards McCoolle. This contract will complete the rebuilding of U. S. 220 from Cresaptown to McCoolle. Distance 4.295 miles. This is 12.48 per cent complete and is expected to be finished late this year or early in 1958. Contractor is the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company. Cost is $706,778.85.

Contract A464-1-620—Relocation of U. S. Route 40 from the top of Martins Mountain eastward to ward Flintstone. Distance 2.589 miles. Presently 52.73 per cent complete, this project is expected to be completed late this year.

Contractor is the Bero Construction Corp., of Hampton, Va., and the cost $1,149,065.

Contract A464-7-620—Relocation of U. S. Route 40 from the top of Polish Mountain westward to Gilpin. Distance 1.945 miles. This is 2.35 per cent complete and is expected to be completed sometime next year. Contractor is the Central Pennsylvania Quarry, Stripping and Construction Company, Hazleton, Pa. Cost is $1,594,280.20.

Contract A465-1-620—Relocation of State Route 36 from its intersection with U. S. Route 40 to Corriganville. Distance 3.194 miles. This project is just under way and is scheduled for completion early in 1958. Cumberland Contracting Company is the contractor and the cost is $758,767.80.

All but one of the bridge projects have been started. However, just what percentage progress has been made is not immediately known since that is handled through the Baltimore office of the SRC.

The bridge projects are as follows: Contract A464-9-620—A three-span continuous beam bridge on relocated U. S. Route 40 over Town Creek about 14 miles east of Cumberland. The bridge is about 200 feet long with a 30-foot roadway. Contractor is Hazelwood. Cost is $237,260.80.

Contract A465-2-620—Single span WF steel beam bridge and concrete retaining wall over Braddock Run on relocated State Route 36 at U. S. Route 40 about one mile west of Cumberland. The bridge is about 61 feet long with 52 to 72 feet of roadway. The contractor is Brotemarkle and cost $180,819.

Contract A465-4-620—Single span WF steel span bridge on State Route 36 (relocation over Jennings Run at Corriganville. The bridge is 82 feet long with a

TV Company Buys Howard School Building

PIEDMONT — The Upper Potomac Television Company has purchased at a public auction the former Howard High School building located on Erin Street.

The sale was approved at the meeting of the Mineral County Board of Education for $12,500, Tuesday evening.

The colored school children used it until the fall of 1955 when they integrated into the Piedmont Elementary and Piedmont High schools.

The Television Company will use the two-story building as a garage for four trucks and a repair shop. They will do service work on television sets and other electrical appliances.

At the present time they do not have any contemplated use for the four class rooms on the second floor of the building which will be offered for rent as offices.

The company will continue to use their salesroom and service shop at their present location on Ashfield Street. They recently renewed their lease on the property.

Hammond PTA Hears Talk On Heart Program

WESTERNPORT — Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary of the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association, presented an interesting program at the meeting of the Hammond School Parent-Teacher Association at the school.

The program and discussion centered around the film, "The Valiant Heart." In this picture, the residents of a small New England town re-enact the story of how the town people and the family pitch in and aid in the recovery of a young boy whose heart has been damaged by rheumatic fever.

While any type of heart condition commands the attention of the Heart Association, heart conditions resulting from rheumatic fever were stressed since this type is so prevalent.

The three phases of the activities of the Heart Association are: research, education and community service, Mrs. Lewis said. At present there are several hundred cases being assisted by the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association in the two counties.

Upset-Studded NIT Enters Semi-Final Stage Tonight

Memphis St., Bonnies To Play Opener

Bradley And Temple Clash In Nightcap; Finals On Saturday

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—The upset-studded National Invitation Basketball Tournament enters the semifinal phase in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night and the Memphis State coach thinks his team may add to the rash of surprising results.

"You're always in a better position when you're the underdog," said Bob Vanatta, who in his first season at the Tennessee school piloted it to a 21-5 season's record.

Finals On Television

Memphis State, which advanced to the semifinals by beating Utah 77-75 and Manhattan 85-73, meets St. Bonaventure in the opening game of tomorrow's doubleheader. Bradley and Temple play in the second game. The winners meet for the championship in a nationally televised game (CBS) Saturday afternoon.

The latest odds show St. Bonaventure favored by 2½ points over Memphis State and Bradley 3½ points over Temple.

"St. Bonaventure has a fine club," said Vanatta. They're defensively sound and aggressive. I saw both their games (against Seattle and Cincinnati) and they were very impressive.

"But we should win if we play the way I know we can. We certainly have not looked as good here as we did most of the time in the regular season. Our general overall play has been a little sloppy."

"Too Long A Layoff"

"One of the reasons, I think, has been the fact that we had too long a layoff. We did not play for two weeks until our first game in this tournament. Of course, we had some workouts but that's nothing like an actual game."

St. Bonaventure has been one of the real surprises in the 12-team competition. The Olean, N. Y. five knocked off top-seeded Seattle 85-68 Monday night after getting past Cincinnati 90-72 Saturday.

Vanatta would like nothing better than to play Bradley in the final. He coached at the Peoria, Ill. school for two years before going to Memphis State.

Alco, Ft. Hill Hi-Y Cagers Enter Finals

The Alco and Fort Hill quintets entered the finals of the Hi-Y Basketball Tournament by scoring semi-final victories last night on the Central YMCA floor.

Fort Hill's defending champions laced the Junior Optimists, 65-52, while Alco eliminated Valley Hi-Y, 37-31, in the other engagement. The two finalists will clash tonight at the Y at 7 o'clock for the title.

Also a challenging quintet built up a big first half lead and coasted to victory over Valley to gain the right to test the defending champs. Stallings and Keech had 11 and 10 points respectively for the winners. Tops for Valley was Mummert with 14 tallies.

Schriver poured in 25 points in leading the Fort Hillians to their victory. Morris chipped in with 12 as the victors broke away in the third period after leading only 26-20 at halftime.

Best bets for the Junior Optimists were Dale Middleton with 18 and Joe Smith with 16 markers. The lineups:

ANNAPOLIS, March 20 (AP)—The Maryland Senate rejected today a bill to require race tracks to admit all persons except drunks and "boisterous" visitors.

Valdes Is Winner In 11-Inning Tilt

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 20 (AP)—Rene Valdes, Cuban right-hander, turned in another hitless relief performance today as the Brooklyn Dodgers scored an unearned run in the 11th inning to shade St. Louis Cardinals, 2-1 today.

With Lindy McDaniel pitching for St. Louis, Gil Hodges opened the last of eleven with his second single. Jack Roseboro ran for him and went to third as McDaniel made a wild pickoff throw to first base. Roseboro scored the winning run as catcher Hobie Landrith dropped Chuck Harmon's throw to the plate after fielding Charlie Neal's grounder.

Brooklyn starter Clem Labine allowed three hits in four innings and Darnell was perfect the first three innings he pitched. Valdes came on in the ninth and faced only 10 batters in three innings, walking two.

ANNAPOLIS, March 20 (AP)—A two per cent increase in the betting tax on horse racing at the Cecil County Breeders' Fair in Fair Hill was approved today by the Maryland House of Delegates.

The tax, which goes to the State for approval, would go up from 10 to 12 per cent. The State would receive 5 per cent.

Pirates' Dick Stuart May Be Rerun Of Ralph Kiner Story

Belts Home Runs, Strikes Out A Lot, Is Weak In Field

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 20 (INS)—Two things never elude rookie Pittsburgh Pirates outfielder Dick Stuart—strikeouts and conversation.

Ask him a question and he is off and running, spilling out colorful prose dedicated to the merits of Dick Stuart.

He is the 24-year-old outfielder who has observers believing that they may be witnessing a rerun of the Ralph Kiner story. Stuart hasn't hit the ball too often. But when he connects, it's generally a homer. His first three hits went out of the park. Six times he whiffed in his first 13 trips.

Most of the time he swings and misses and generally ends up missing.

"What's the difference," he says. "An out's an out. Once last season a pitcher fanned me four straight times. The fifth time I hit a homer that won the game."

Hi 66 With Lincoln
He sent 66 out of the park last season with Lincoln, Neb., in the Western League and was brought to the Fort Myers training camp, more to provide copy for reporters than from any belief he might make the team. Now there's talk that he can't be denied, even though he can't field a lick.

"One thing he has," explains General Manager Joe L. Brown, "is power. I don't know of a club overstocked in that commodity."

"That's right," Stuart readily agrees. "People will come out to see me hit, not to field. That's the way it was in the Western League and I tried to oblige. The strikeouts never bothered me."

Stuart is a tall (6-3) Califorman who shrugs off predictions that he will spend next summer in New Orleans or Hollywood.

"I am not a big league fielder, but I can hit like one. There's a lot of guys in the majors who aren't the best with the glove. I can make it with my bat."

When Ralph Kiner showed up at the Pirates' camp 11 years ago in California, he already had been assigned to Toronto. But the likeable outfielder who went on to become Pittsburgh's "Mr. Slug," socked 13 roundtrippers in exhibition games and convinced them Manager Frankie Frisch that he could stick.

Shagging Flies Tires Him
Kiner was a fielder with deficiencies like Stuart, who hasn't drawn a word of approval yet from Manager Bobby Bragan.

"Stuart told me," Bragan explained, "that it tired him out to shag flies before a game. So I accommodated him and had someone bat fungoes after a game. Heck, after ten minutes he was ready to collapse. I don't think he has ever been in shape."

"That boy has a lot to learn about fielding. Don't know whether we can teach him. But we're gonna try."

Top Baseball Moguls Prepare Anti-Trust Plan

Frick Calls Secret Meeting On Friday

BELLEAIR, Fla., March 20 (AP)—Organized baseball has a definite plan of defense against pending bills which would make it subject to federal anti-trust laws. But the men who rule the game are not yet ready to reveal the details.

Greatly concerned by criticism of political leaders in Washington and charges that baseball is a business rather than a sport, Commissioner Ford Frick has called for a special meeting of major league executives Friday to map strategy to combat almost certain congressional action.

"I have a plan to submit to the baseball representatives," Frick acknowledged today, "but it will be up to them to trash it out with our lawyers."

Neither Frick nor any other executive would reveal baseball's plan of defense. An official, who did not wish to be identified, said grimly:

"It would be just like a team giving some of its signs away."

The meeting will be in strict secrecy and no announcement is expected to be forthcoming. Major league officials following the theme that discretion is the better part of valor, declined to voice their opinions on what the Friday conclave might produce. Many of them simply said they were in the dark about the whole thing.

"I don't know what form the meeting will take place," said Warren Giles, president of the National League. "All I know is the commissioner wants to get the views of the 16 clubs as to what course they will follow with respect to legislation what is being introduced."

Three bills directed at baseball already have been introduced in Congress. On the day after the Supreme Court's decision ruling that professional football, in contrast to baseball, is subject to federal anti-trust laws, Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-NY) of the House Judiciary Committee, introduced legislation to bring baseball under the anti-trust laws. It was Celler who directed the investigation of organized ball in 1951.

Fortisans Retain Celanese Loop Lead

The Fortisans retained their two-game margin over the Celanese in the Celanese Staff Bowling League last night as both teams won 2-1 matches on the Club Recreation Alleys.

The Fortisans downed the third-place Acetates as Alvin Serf spilled 436 pins to pace his mates. Grace Lashley chipped in with 335 for the victors. Millie Twigg's 394 was high for the Acetates. Francis Stein toppled 332 pins for the losers.

The Celanese remained on the heels of the second-half leaders by spilling the Arnels despite Paul Shaffer's 205-493 kepling. Marian Heiskell collected 340 pins for the losers. High for the winners were Bernie Tasker with 430 and Gay Long with 345. The standings:

$1,947,249 Price Tag Put On Pimlico Track Measure

Solon Wants Bowie, Laurel To Divide 40 Racing Dates

ANNAPOLIS, March 20 (AP)—Sen. Northrop (D-Montgomery) put a $1,947,249 price tag today on his vote for abandonment of Pimlico race track.

He said he will ask that Pimlico owners pay the State that much if they want to continue racing elsewhere.

The Legislature is being asked to approve closing of Pimlico and transfer its 40 days to Laurel.

Northrop will try instead to have the 40 days divided equally between Laurel and Bowie.

Basically, the senator expressed doubt of a recommendation by the Maryland Racing Commission that the Pimlico-Laurel consolidation is "economically sound."

If it is, Northrop maintained, "then from the State's viewpoint it is certainly sounder to divide its days equally between the two remaining tracks and thus insure Maryland having two outstanding and competitive tracks instead of one leading track with 80 days and a second race track with 40 days."

Spent On Improvements
The money which Northrop wants Pimlico to pay the State is all that has been spent on improvements there out of betting taxes since 1945.

The tracks are required to set aside one half of one per cent of their share of the tax, which now is seven per cent. The racing commission holds the money until the tracks submit and have approved plans for improvements.

Northrop will introduce his amendments to the consolidation bill when it is taken up by the Senate Finance Committee. Chairman Turnbull (D-Balto County) said he will "try" to have the committee consider it tomorrow.

Northrop's proposal provides that if Pimlico owners give the State $1,947,249 then they will be allowed to conduct 20 days of racing at Laurel and Bowie. The only charge would be a share of the overhead expenses at the two other tracks.

To Buy Half Interest
According to the original proposal, Pimlico plans to pay Laurel $3,000,000 for half ownership of the track.

If Pimlico is abandoned and the State isn't paid the amount equal to improvement funds spent there since 1945, then its 40 days would be divided between Laurel and Bowie, according to Northrop's proposal.

Northrop considers the improvement funds as State money. If it isn't spent within three years after collection it is supposed to revert to the State, although none ever has.

"I do not think that race track owners have any right to enhance the value of their properties with money given them by the State and to then make huge profits selling the properties or an interest in them," he stated.

Phillies Homers Beat Nats, 6-4

ORLANDO, Fla., March 20 (AP)—Ed Bouchee and Joe Lonnett smashed home runs for Philadelphia today as the Phils defeated Washington 6-4 before 812 fans.

Bob Bowman belted a leadoff homer in the eighth off Hal Griggs and the Phils scored another run in the same inning to take a 5-4 lead when Lonnett walked, moved around to third on Roy Smalley's sacrifice and Bob Conley's grounder, and scored on Richie Ashburn's single to left.

The Phils scored without benefit of a hit in the ninth after Griggs nicked Willie Jones and walked Rip Repulski and Bouchee. Bowman's sacrifice fly scored Jones. Another One About Hollywood

"The Last Tycoon," as it was left unfinished by the dying F. Scott Fitzgerald, was a first draft of singularly compelling power. It had all the advantages of a first draft, which are many, and all the disadvantages, which are also many. It was highly original, this story of a movie magnate who greatly resembles the late Irving Thalberg, who was immensely perceptive about an industry that is mostly represented by caricature and, even in outline, it had an air of importance about it.

However, there is still an air of unreality about it, too. Some of the plotting and even some of the characterization had a tentative and strongly experimental tinge to them, as if Mr. Fitzgerald was just trying them out for size and would strengthen or eliminate later.

As done on "Playhouse 90" with Jack Palance in the leading role, all these virtues and all these defects were carefully preserved in a TV adaptation by Don Mankiewicz. Right from the outset, at a preview of a picture, much of the frantic tension of the picture business is established with speed and authority.

Now as to the plot. As I recall the book, there was quite an elaborate development of the idea that Monroe Stahr was an authentic genius who was gradually being hemmed in and circumscribed by bankers and other constricting believe in making money. But Mr. Wynn believes in saving money; Mr. Palance in spending it to make it. The one is an exponent of cost accounting; the other of native genius.

Palance, who has already turned in one whooping performance as a punch-drunk heavyweight in "Requiem for a Heavyweight," turned in another powerful performance as Monroe Stahr. His intense enough, but he seemed to be a man of one expression and one mood. Mr. Fitzgerald's last tycoon was, I should imagine, a far more complex character than this.

There are a couple of love stories in the script, both a little strange and remarkably innocent ones for Hollywood. In one, Stahr falls in love with a woman mostly to them, as if Mr. Fitzgerald was just trying them out for size and would strengthen or eliminate later.

Still, sketchy, unfinished, and experimental as it was, "The Last Tycoon" was quite a TV drama, strange, haunting and memorable. There was a perfect wonderful scene at the beginning in which Monroe Stahr tries to teach a British author how to write for movies, copes with and by bankers and other constricting apparatuses of the twentieth century, which were gradually changing the picture business. In the TV version, this idea was greatly simplified. Mr. Palance was shown under the surveillance of an icy-eyed money man (Keenan Wynn). Presumably his job was at stake if he failed to impress, but since the character played by Mr. Palance already realized he was dying, this is a matter of small importance.

The philosophical implications were omitted or simplified. Both Mr. Wynn and Mr. Palance be-

Five Complaints Of Ridgeley Discussed Here

Flood Control Problems Aired

Representatives of Cumberland and Ridgeley and the Corps of Engineers met last night in the office of Mayor Roy W. Eves to discuss five specific complaints which officials of Ridgeley have made concerning flood control work.

The first point was the closing of an opening in the north end of the east levee in the vicinity of the old B&O-Western Maryland interchange bridge. This opening will be closed under the contract for Section 2 of the Potomac River project.

The E. J. Albrecht Company has submitted the only bid on this project but the contract has not yet been awarded. This problem will be discussed further with the Corps of Engineers in Washington.

Other Complaints

A second complaint concerned odors from sewers, and rats. This, too, will be referred to the Corps of Engineers in Washington.

A bad drainage condition in the vicinity of Ridgeley High School was the third problem discussed. This condition will be corrected by the Albrecht Company under terms of its Section 1 contract on the Potomac River. The work is in progress but is unfinished.

The condition of a road leading from West Virginia Route 28 to a gravel processing plant of the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company was the fourth point at issue. It was suggested that a solution can be reached at a conference between officials of Ridgeley and the company.

Street Repair Problem

Repairs to 14 Ridgeley streets were discussed in the fifth point. The City of Cumberland has agreed to repair one of the streets, a short one leading to Perry Street, but no agreement has been made on the other 13. It was suggested that Ridgeley officials discuss the matter with Albrecht Company representatives.

Representing Cumberland at the meeting were Mayor Eves, Water Commissioner William J. Edwards, Finance Commissioner John J. Long and City Attorney Thomas B. Finan. Ridgeley was represented by Mayor Charles Fryer, Councilmen E. S. Thompson, William L. Mickey, A. T. Payton, William C. Knierim and Albert Davis; and J. B. Falter and C. E. Ridgeley, both members of the flood committee in the town.

The Corps of Engineers was represented by P. H. Lowe, Rex E. Dexter and W. L. Hull.

Workman Dies Of Injuries In Scaffold Fall

Arch Lee, 58, a Terra Alta, W. Va., millwright, died last night at Memorial Hospital of injuries he sustained in a fall yesterday morning while at work on a construction job at Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company Works 7 on North Branch.

Mr. Lee, who had been staying at a local hotel, was admitted in an unconscious condition and never regained consciousness.

The hospital said he was working for the Eicheley Corporation when he fell approximately 12 feet from a scaffold which he was dismantling.

A spokesman for the company said Mr. Lee was working with F. L. Baker at the time of the accident. It was reported that his head struck the bottom brace of the scaffold.

Heisey To Address Garrett County PTA

Victor D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill High School, will address the Garrett County Council Parent Teacher Association tonight in Grantsville School on the subject of "Scouting."

John Wolf, president of the Garrett County association, said the meeting has been called for 8 p. m. During the business session, officers for the year will be elected.

The Grantsville band under the direction of Louis Michael, will play several selections and refreshments will be served.

Siestas And Sombreros

As far as Pedro is concerned, it is siesta time in the above scene from "Stagebrush," the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory revue which will be presented Friday and Saturday at Beall High School auditorium. Curtain time is 8:15 p. m. Shown above are members of the cast with leading roles. Left to right standing are Dr. Loren Morey, Mrs. Geneva Steinberger, Paul Morgan, Mrs. Helen Little and Earl Jewell. And trying to get his rest is Pedro, portrayed by Ralph O. Barrick. Proceeds of the production are turned over to the ABL Charity Fund. The show is under direction of Chad Riley.

$25,000 Action Is Removed To This County

A $25,000 damage suit filed by a Frostburg area motorcyclist for injuries sustained in a crash with a light truck on Big Savage Mountain was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court after its removal from Garrett County.

Gordon Raley, RFD 2, Frostburg, through Attorney Edward J. Ryan, filed the $25,000 suit last September 25 in Garrett County Circuit Court against Howard Hetrick of Jennings.

The declaration stated that Raley was driving his motorcycle west on National Highway on Big Savage Mountain about 4:30 p. m. March 25, 1956. When he reached a point near the Allegany-Garrett County line he turned the motorcycle around and began to proceed eastward.

Raley asserts that his motorcycle was struck by Hetrick's light truck which was traveling west on U.S. Route 40 at the time. The cyclist says he sustained severe cuts and bruises, particularly of his left leg, was hospitalized from March 25 to April 16 and again from April 25 to May 25. He was unable to return to work until July 23, he said.

Attorney Ryan last Saturday petitioned Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley for removal of the case from Garrett County and that day the judge signed the order removing the suit to Allegany County.

Citizens Oppose Keyser Plan To Widen Street

KEYSER, W. Va. — Objections to the widening of a section of North Davis Street at the expense of sidewalk space of property owners will be discussed this evening between local residents and the Mayor and Council.

The meeting is slated to get under way at 7 p. m. in the City Council Room. Property owners along North Davis Street between Armstrong and Piedmont streets are objecting to the plan to widen the streets.

Utility poles and parking meters are to be moved back as well as a number of trees along the street. This evening's meeting is a continuation of a meeting started on Tuesday.

County Hi-Y May Send Delegates To Congress

During a recent meeting of the Allegany County Hi-Y Council in Lonaconing, members discussed sending a delegation of four to the Hi-Y Congress which will be held at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio on June 26.

Barbara Mann, president of the county council, was in charge of the meeting.

Other discussion included the round-robin basketball tournament which got under way on Tuesday night at Central YMCA. This evening the final playoff will begin at 7 o'clock with Alle-gany Hi-Y and Fort Hill Hi-Y vying for top honors.

Last year Fort Hill had the championship team. Ronald Shantzler, Fort Hill, delegation leader of the County Youth Government, gave a report at the council meeting.

Refreshments were served by the host club, Valley High. Some 44 members of the various clubs were at the meeting.

In other YMCA activities, the Hagerstown YMCA Ping Pong champions will meet the local champs on Saturday at 1:30 p. m.

Railway Seeks Permission To Drop 2 Trains

BALTIMORE, March 20 (AP)—The Western Maryland Railway went to court today in another attempt to discontinue all passenger service between Hagerstown and Baltimore.

The railroad asked Circuit Court to set aside a Public Service Commission order requiring it to continue operations of two passenger trains.

In the injunction suit, the railroad said it is losing $1,600 a week in running the trains and estimated there would have to be an increase of 9,000 per cent in the number of passengers before income from the service would equal expenses.

The present revenue is not enough to pay expenses of the train crews, the suit alleged.

Through Atty. William C. Purnell and Norman Melvin, the railroad alleged the PSC erred in its finding that the 1852 charter granted the Western Maryland requires the continued operation of passenger trains between Baltimore and Hagerstown.

The court was asked to reserve the Jan. 23 ruling of the PSC and to reopen the railroad's application for discontinuance of all passenger service between the two cities.

Several years ago, the PSC allowed the railroad to discontinue all but four daily trains, two each way, between Hagerstown and Baltimore. The commission's January order allowed the railroad to abandon two of the four trains but required continuation of a morning passenger train from Hagerstown to Baltimore and an afternoon train from Baltimore to Hagerstown.

The railroad contends in the court suit that the number of passengers between the two cities—a distance of 53 miles—averaged seven a day and that most of those are taken on between Glyndon and Baltimore in an area largely served by the Baltimore Transit Co.

The railroad added that it lost $84,950 in 1955 on the operation and the total loss between June, 1953 and April, 1956, amounted to $256,844.

Revenues for 1955 totaled $20,292 while expenses amounted to $105,242, the suit said, including $31,294 in crew expenses alone.

The PSC had recognized the railroad's out-of-pocket loss in the operation of the two trains and acknowledged the decline in revenues likely would be greater in the future with the increased use of automobiles.

Albrecht Firm Pledges Effort To Speed Work

Mayor Roy W. Eves has received a letter from an official of the E. J. Albrecht Company of Chicago, Ill., pledging continued efforts to complete the storm sewer work on North Mechanic Street as soon as possible.

The letter, received Monday by Mayor Eves from S. M. Friedman, secretary of the Albrecht Company, was in response to one sent to the company March 7 by Mayor Eves. He asked in that letter that the company continue to make every effort to expedite the work which has disrupted commerce and the heavy flow of traffic that normally uses North Mechanic Street to get to the main business district.

Mr. Friedman wrote that the effort to complete this troublesome part of the contract with utmost speed will be continued. A copy of his letter was sent to R. L. Hubble, resident manager here for Albrecht.

2 Agencies Vote To Join United Fund

Favor Chest Link Until December 1

The board of directors of Associated Charities and the Baby Welfare Society, both agencies of the Cumberland Community Chest, yesterday afternoon voted to affiliate with the new Allegany County United Fund.

It was emphasized by the board that it was felt affiliation with the Community Chest as such should continue until the present contract expires December 1.

Identical letters to Edmund S. Burke, president of the United Fund, was sent by Douglas R. Bowie as chairman of the board which serves both of the agencies.

Mr. Burke expressed pleasure at the favorable action taken concerning the United Fund in behalf of the two welfare agencies.

The board of directors of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, is scheduled to meet tonight to make a decision concerning affiliation with the United Fund.

A meeting of the County United Fund will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the board of directors' room in the Liberty Trust Building to discuss a contract which will be sent to all youth, health and welfare services in the county.

Travelers Aid Asks Delay In United Fund

The Travelers Aid Society, one of the nine Red Feather Agencies of the Cumberland Community Chest, in replying to an invitation from Edmund S. Burke, president, to affiliate with County United Fund, Inc., requested that the Community Chest be permitted to continue its entity until after present agency contracts expire on December 1.

Mrs. William B. Lee, president of the society, said 14 of the board of 16 attended yesterday's morning's meeting to act on the invitation. Mrs. Lee said the board was unanimous in its approval of the idea of a federated fund raising plan and extending services into the county.

Acceptance of the invitation was made with reservations that the board first study the contract with the United Fund before final action is taken. Mrs. Lee said the board requested a copy of the United Fund contract for study and final decision.

Travelers Aid has been a member of the Cumberland Community Chest since 1927 and Mrs. Nora Fleming is executive director. The society has a record of handling between 50 and 90 cases per month of transients, people stranded in the city, or seeking help in traveling from one point to another. The society provides temporary shelter, food and funds, based upon the legitimate needs of those appealing for help.

To extend the service throughout the county, directors pointed out, it will be necessary to designate affiliates or representatives in each major community of the county.

To Build Residence

James A. Llewellyn of Midland yesterday obtained a permit from the Allegany County assessing department to build a $6,000 residence in Election District 27 in the Midland area. The 24-by-24-foot house will be a two-story frame structure.

Auto Accident Fund Bill Gets Going-Over

Backers, Opponents Submit Arguments

By MARTY SUTPHIN

ANNAPOLIS, March 20 (AP)—The House Judiciary Committee was told today it holds the key to the problem of protecting victims of uninsured motorists.

Joseph Sherbow, representing the National Assn. of Independent Insurers, urged the committee to give a quick and favorable report to a bill which would create a state-operated fund from which judgments against uninsured drivers could be paid.

Sherbow predicted any other proposed solution to the problem wouldn't clear the Senate, which killed two other proposals before passing the unsatisfied judgment fund bill.

The House committee is now considering the Senate's fund bill plus a House measure which combines an unsatisfied claim fund with a compulsory insurance feature.

At its second lengthy hearing on the subject this week, the committee heard conflicting opinions from insurance spokesmen on the fund bill.

How It Would Work

Allen Fisher, head of a Baltimore Bar Assn. committee which drafted the measure, explained it this way:

The fund would be created from contributions of $1 each from all insured motorists the first year, $8 from those without insurance every year and annual contributions from the insurance companies amounting to one-half per cent of all premiums they write in Maryland.

It protects—as compulsory insurance would not—victims of hit-and-run cars, stolen cars, out-of-state uninsured drivers, and unauthorized drivers, Fisher said.

Sherbow said the fund system has been tried in New Jersey and is working "satisfactorily" there.

Under the fund plan as explained by Sherbow, an uninsured driver who caused an accident and could not pay the damages would lose his license until he repaid the amount of the judgment to the fund. Meanwhile, his victim could collect from the fund.

Opponents of the fund bill supported a combination plan they termed an "equal responsibility" law. They included Charles Robinson, general counsel for Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co.

Competition Charged

Robinson said the fund plan "amounts to the state entering the insurance business at the expense of private enterprise."

Joseph Leonard, representing Liberty Mutual, said the bill was "contrived by All State Insurance Co. out of a fear of compulsory insurance legislation" and has been introduced in the Maryland Legislature "to swerve you away from a compulsory plan under which insurance companies lost millions of dollars in Massachusetts."

Leonard said the fund bill is "a trap for people a little pinched for money they think they are getting cheap insurance for $8, but aren't protected."

In rebuttal, Fisher said the number of insured drivers in New Jersey increased from 60 to 90 per cent after the fund law went into effect while policy premiums failed to increase "appreciably."

It was estimated that 200,000 of Maryland's one million motorists are uninsured.

Pittsburgh Minister Will Address Youth

Rev. Ralph E. Godwin, assistant pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, Pittsburgh, Pa., will be guest speaker at the Tri-State Youth For Christ rally Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

A graduate of Nyack Missionary College and of New York University, Rev. Godwin was the founder and first director of the Youth For Christ in Savannah, Ga.

Lydia Hill, Mary Jo Hill, James Gafford, Dave Trumbull and Lyle Trumbull will compete in the "Who Said It" contest, according to Dwight I. Evans, director of the Tri-State Youth For Christ.

White Pine Blister Rust Campaign Planned In Area

Two representatives of the U.S. Forest Service met here yesterday with District Forester William H. Johnson to discuss control measures which will be undertaken concerning white pine blister rust beginning about April 1.

The conferees were John R. George, area leader in the blister rust eradication drive with headquarters at Harrisonburg, Va., and Clarence M. Fultz, control aide with headquarters at Lost River, W. Va.

In Western Maryland the aim this year will be the eradication of ribes plants such as currants and gooseberries within 900 feet of white pines. Blister rust is an alternative host disease which can be transferred from ribes plants to white pines and vice versa but not from one white pine tree to another.

House Money Group Agrees On Big Cuts

Would Trim Budget By $3 Million

By LOUIS PANOS

ANNAPOLIS, March 20 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee was reliably reported tonight to have agreed to budget cuts totaling a record of about three million dollars.

This figure, supplied by an informed source, would mean Maryland's legislative money committees had not only balanced a 361-million dollar budget without a new tax but had also come up with a surplus of at least 3½-million dollars.

Democratic leaders said this, plus revenues from new or higher taxes still undetermined, would be used to give public school teachers a pay raise.

A House subcommittee under Del. Lee (D-Montgomery) met late tonight to discuss the pay raise question.

Bills calling for two $400 annual increases—one in September and one a year later—have been introduced in both houses and would cost an estimated 11 million dollars for each installment.

"Absolute Minimum"

Although educators told the Senate Finance Committee this morning that the $800 total was the "absolute minimum" needed to put Maryland in a favorable competitive position for teachers, Democratic spokesmen said a lesser boost was probable.

The report of the House committee's budget-cutting action came after a meeting with a subcommittee which had compared notes with the Senate Finance Committee.

Since the subcommittee includes eight of the most influential members of the Ways and Means unit, including Chairman Boone (D-Balto County), this was interpreted to mean leaders in both houses had agreed on the three-million dollar trimming.

In the Senate this afternoon, Chairman Turnbull (D-Balto County) praised his Finance Committee and its House counterpart "for their industry and effort during the past 12 weeks" of budget scrutinizing.

Republican Gov. McKeldin had submitted to the Legislature a 363-million-dollar budget which was 6.8 million dollars shy of balance. He proposed a tobacco tax to make up the deficit.

The House will offer a grand prize and many of the exhibitors offer prizes. No admission is charged.

Among the exhibitors are the Buchanan Lumber Company, Burgess, Inc., C&A Gas Company, Cumberland Cement and Supply Company, the Liberty Trust Company, Modern Food Plan, Potomac Edison Company, Skelly Appliance Company, Smith's Gardens, John E. Sharp & Company, South Cumberland Planning Mill, and Vogel-Ritt, Inc.

Taxes For Teachers?

There still was considerable sentiment tonight for imposing a smaller tobacco tax to make up whatever is needed to grant some boost in teachers' pay. Other prominently mentioned possibilities were a doubling of the three-cent-a-gallon beer tax, a penny-a-bottle soft drink levy and slight modifications of the two per cent tax on ordinary income and the five per cent levy on investment income.

As the legislators prepared to move the state's operating budget bill to the Senate floor tomorrow and prepared for joint subcommittee sessions on trimming the governor's 13½-million dollar capital improvements program, the governor sent down a supplemental budget.

It totaled $828,600, which drove his overall appropriation proposals to just short of $364,000,000.

The Breakdown

The proposed expenditures would be sliced up this way: Public education, about 29 per cent; highways and Maryland Port Authority 25; kickbacks to the counties and Baltimore City on state taxes collected within those subdivisions, 13; health, 10; welfare and employment security, 8; general expenses, 5; public safety, 2.8; interest on and retirement of the state debt, 3; correction, 1.5; and natural resources, recreation and information, 1.3.

More than one-fourth of the money to meet these expenses—nearly 26 per cent—is expected to come from gasoline taxes and other motor vehicle revenues; nearly 20 per cent, state income tax; nearly 14 per cent, sales and use tax, and nearly 15 per cent federal aid. The rest would come from taxes on general business, horse race betting, alcoholic beverages, property and other sources.

Reported 'Improved'

Mrs. Margaret Anderson, 21, of Washington, D. C., is reported slightly "improved" at Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where she has been a patient since being injured in an automobile accident on Route 40 last Friday.

Mayor Eves and Council March 11 by a four-to-one vote approved the proposed agreement. Finance Commissioner John J. Long dissented.

The stipulations of the Mayor and Council are that the firm leave 100,000 tons for use of the city and that it get unanimous approval of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

The city will get a royalty of five cents a ton or a minimum of $2,000 under the three-year agreement. Mayor Eves said stone removed will be used on the Cumberland Valley Township Road in Pennsylvania.

Local Auto Club To Elect Tonight

The Cumberland Cam Cutters, local auto and motorcycle club, will elect officers today at 7:30 p. m. at the McIntyre Chevrolet Garage.

David Largent, who is in charge of the program, said a movie will be shown. Licensed drivers interested in joining the organization are invited to attend this evening's meeting.
